A unique world with many directions:
Meeting different people, yet some are our reflections.
Growing with one another hand-in-hand:
Coming together, forming a royal band.

Creating a unity that seems all good.
Working as a whole in perfect harmony:
Proud to be a part of that Ole' P.G.

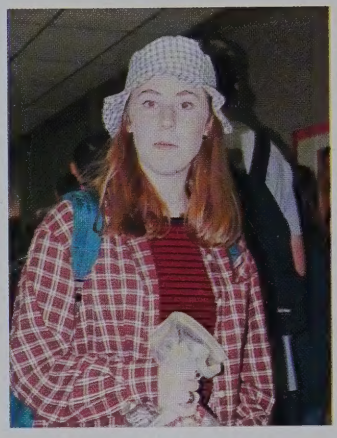
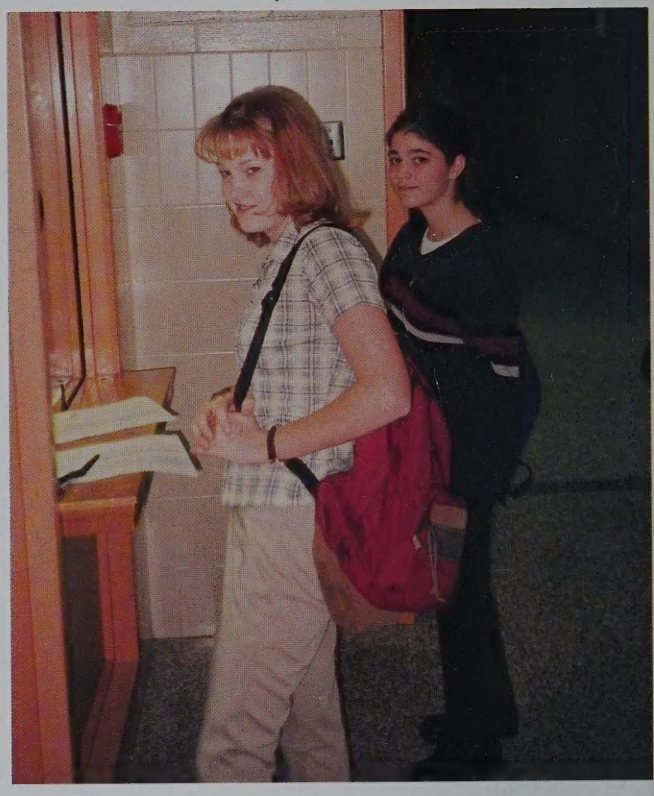
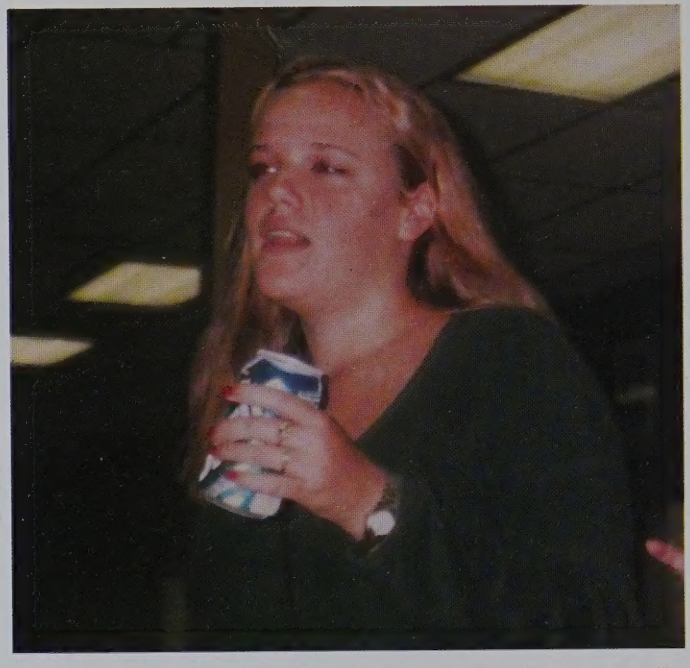
Student Life



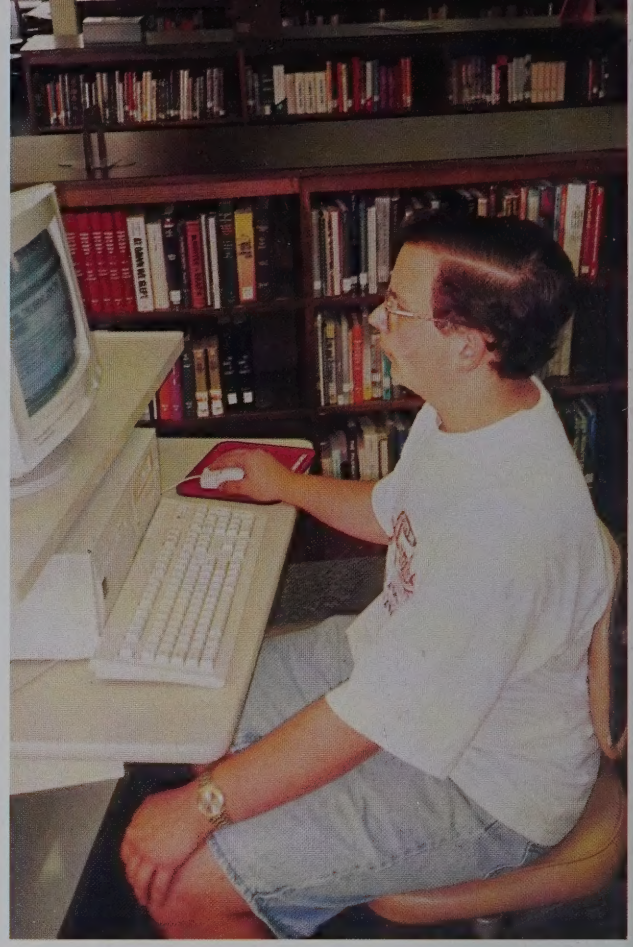




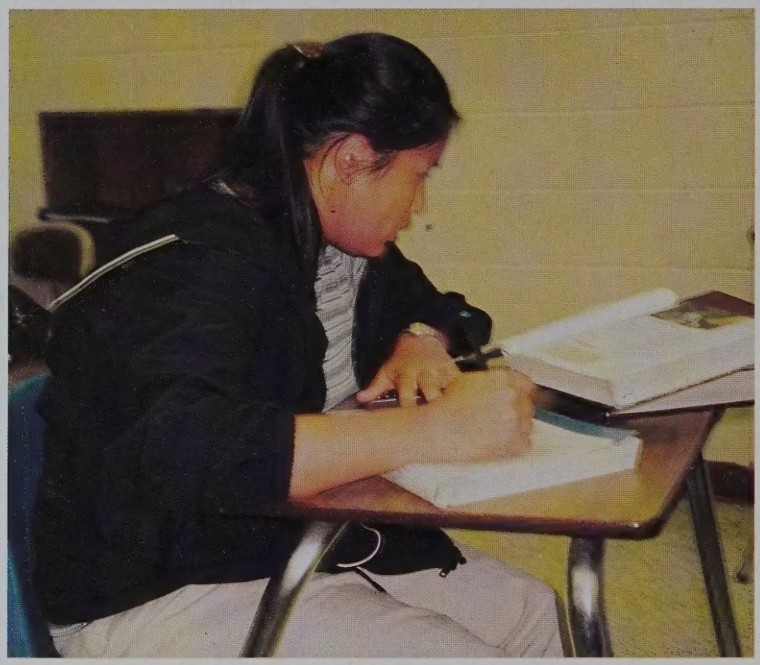
Please pay attention to these announcements: Varsity Club will meet Friday. Chess Team has a meet this Saturday. Cheerleading and Band practice is lengthened until 6:30 p.m.. Music will be played in the Commons on Friday. S.C.A. Senators need to see Mrs. Cosgrove. Drama Club meeting is postponed until next week. Thank you and have a great day!

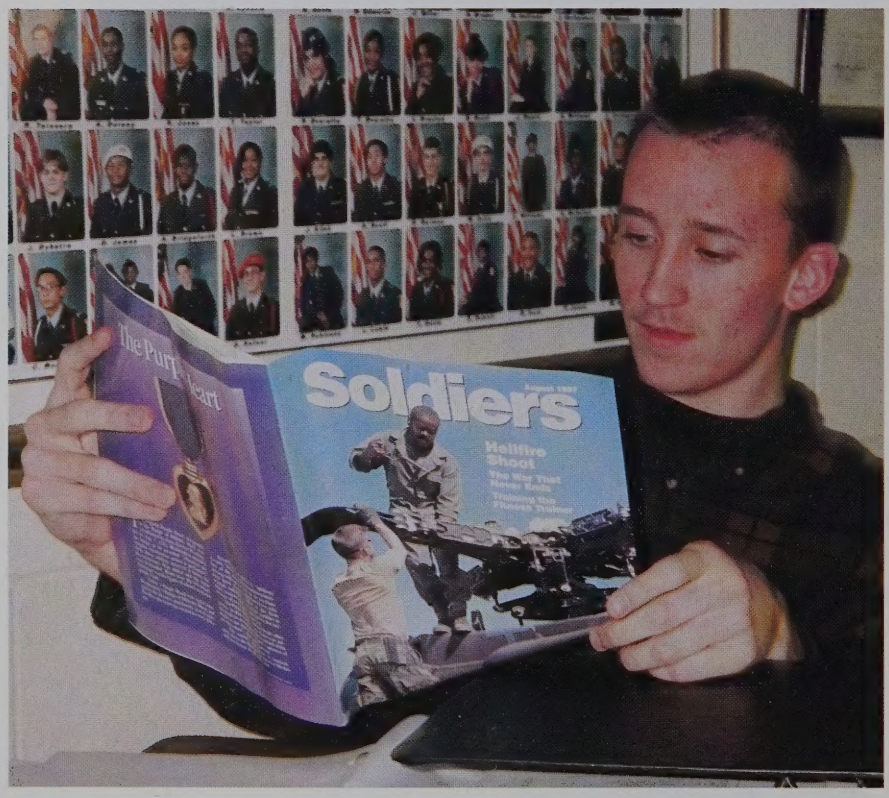
Does this seem all too familiar? This school always has something going on. It is clearly evident if the Football Team, Golf, or Volleyball is not practicing, then someone is. Meetings are going on everyday. One knows there is ALWAYS some kind of sport or organization in the gym. So, if you are looking for somewhere quiet, this is not the place. Organized chaos is continuous at this school! -Kaylon Travers

With each year technology advances rapidly. School books have been replaced by computer programs and used by students such as Richard Pierce.



By definition, homework should be done at home, but students like Jang Han sometimes bend the rules.

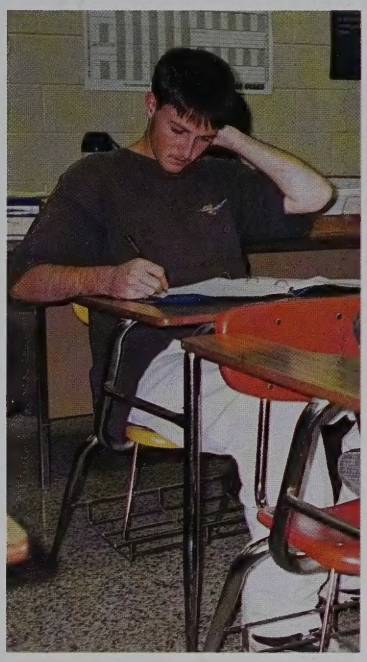




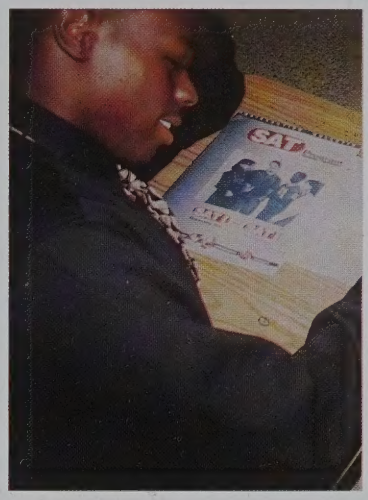
The Army is looking for a few good men and James Aird hopes to be one of them.

It takes more than an education to become a mechanic. Tim Nicely demonstrated his skill and determination proving that he had what it takes.

These days it is hard to find a college that suits your needs. Ann Cabell Baskervill searched endlessly for just that college.



Registering for the SAT might have been easy at first, but Ronnie McCray later found that the test itself was hard.



The senior year can be the toughest year for most students. Conner Boyle, who studied and worked hard, was determined to make it through his final year.

Tuning Up Our Futures

Post-Graduation Plans

Watch out world because here they come! The Class of 1998 will be taking on the world and preparing for life after they walk across the stage to get their hard earned diploma. The main question to be asked is "are they ready for the world?"

"My biggest concern is facing the real world," said Chantell Pettaway who explained it for most Seniors. Others are getting ready for college by taking their SATs so that they can have their applications turned in before the deadline. Many are thinking about "being all they can be" by joining the military. Then there are those who are counting down the days until Graduation and looking forward to a vacation. Chris Sprader, a Senior with few concerns, says "I am looking forward to going to college, graduating, getting a real job, getting married, having several kids, and dying happy." So, is the Class of 1998 ready for the world? The answer to that lies in the unknown. — Ronnie McCray

THE CLASS

An increase in the number of students the past couple of years might have been the cause of tardies. Many students complained of traffic jams and being stepped on by other classmates.

One of the biggest classes was Ms. Lisa McDaniels' 9th grade gym class. One of Ms. McDaniels' students, Lisa Novak complained that class is "harder because of friends and talking a lot." She claimed she learns better in smaller classes. Ashley Gottfried, a student in a smaller class, said "the smaller, the better." One common complaint the students shared was that the teachers had less time and attention for individuals.

Some of the best things about school were always having friends nearby and meeting new people. The worst problems were tardiness to classes and just having so many people near you. Some ideas students had for solving these problems were to add onto this school. Some other suggestions included different bell schedules, getting more classrooms and teachers, and my personal favorite, longer pass times. Few did recommend a new school, but for now it looks like more trailers. Mr. David Crites, a self-proclaimed "Trailer Boy", liked his trailer. He stayed in there the whole day unlike Ms. Bradley who had a "floating cart". Mr. Willie Elliott summed it all up by saying that he "appreciated all the students' hard work through this problem and was looking forward to block scheduling next year to help alleviate some of the overcrowding problems."

SPIRIT WEEK

GETTING PEPPED UP WITH SPIRIT!!

"Match Your Hall Day was the best day of spirit week because there were so many choices."

-Elizabeth Myers, Senior

Spirit Week was greatly enjoyed by both faculty and students. Spirit Week has changed with the addition of Match Your Hall Day. Every class dressed up to fit their hall. The Freshmen had Prehistoric Times, in which students dressed as cave people. The Sophomores had Ancient Rome as their theme. Juniors imagined the future in their hall and dressed the way they believed people would dress in the future. The Senior class decorated their hall with events that occurred during the 1900's. Senior, Elizabeth Myers, believed that Match Your Hall Day was the best day of spirit week because "there were so many choices." Her hall had a very broad topic.

Another Spirit Week day was Career Day, where students dressed according to their future occupation. This was the most popular day amongst the students. Crazy Head Day was the day when everybody displayed their most unique hats and hair styles. On Mix Match Day, they tried to wear clothes that really clashed. On Colors Day, the Freshmen dressed in green, gold and white colors; Sophomores wore white colors; Juniors, gold colors; and Seniors colored themselves in green.

At the end of the week, a pep rally was held. Everyone screamed his or her loudest showing which class had the most school spirit. The winners of the Spirit Stick were the Sophomores, earning it because of their hard work during the competitions. The Freshman class came in second. When asked about Spirit Week, Charles Lamb could only say the word "Friday." This was the effect of the pep rally on him. Judges of the hall decorations chose the Seniors as having the best hall. Every class worked hard and enjoyed putting forth a great effort. -Danny Wood

Homecoming Big Success with Big Win

Homecoming started off with the game against Meadowbrook. We were down through the second quarter and at the last possible moment came back to win the game 21-14, with touchdowns by Brad Forehand, Cassius Williams, and P.J. Knight. The student body got psyched earlier in the day at the Pep Rally, with performances by the band, Varsity and Junior Varsity cheerleaders, majorettes, and the flag squad. Victory and excitement were in the air as Kim Schraner and Randy Patrick were crowned the Homecoming Queen and King. Shannta Claiborne and Ebony Wood cherished their roles as first and second runners-up for Queen. Brad Forehand and Richard Winston were announced as first and second runners-up for King. Melissa Crawford was chosen as the 11th grade Princess. The tenth grade attendant was Hayley Shaw, and the ninth grade attendant was Courtney Davis. Congratulations to the entire court for representing our school with honors.

The Homecoming Dance on Saturday night kept the feeling and spirit of Homecoming alive. The dance was a night to remember for friends, couples, and faculty. The Senior song for the Class of 1998 was "Ladies Night" by Li'l Kim. The Homecoming weekend came to an end as the lights came up, the dance ended, and memories will forever linger. — Mandie Costley

Limited Parking Spaces Creates Headaches for Students

"Unassigned parking spots were a good idea," said Meghan Clements "but seniors should have priority". Mrs. Cosgrove was in charge of parking. She said after Zero Hour classes and the work release program there were only about thirty spaces left in A parking. "I'm a senior this year and I have to walk from B parking," replied Cody Nemeth. There were just as many Juniors and Sophomores in A parking as Seniors. The reason was because of Zero Hour classes and the work release program. The biggest argument from students was that people chose to take Zero Hour classes and the work release program, so they should have the same chances as everyone else. The reason spots in A parking were not assigned this year was that Mrs. Cosgrove felt that it was not necessary and it will remain that way for next year also.

— Jason Taylor

One of the newer cars sighted in A parking was Aaron Lewis' 1997 Ford Ranger.

This is Justin Hudson's 1968 Ford Mustang. It was one of the older cars th was seen in the parking lot this year.

The After Prom Party

The After Prom party, held at the Hopewell Community Center, provided a safe, fun alternative to other parties. Students enjoyed food, dancing, games, and the company of friends in a casual atmosphere. No one left the party empty-handed. Students entered a drawing for door prizes as they came in and souvenirs were given out as they left. According to Senior Jaime Pennington, "the best part of the After Prom party was the variety of activities to participate in."

The activities were exciting even to the spectators. "Watching friends run wild in the pool" was Senior Shayla Nelson's favorite event of the night. Other students tested their skills by playing the games available. Alice Cates, a Senior, said that she "loved Jousting, the Velcro Olympics, and Twin Peaks." Many agreed that these games made the party more fun.

There were also less physical games, like the Cash Machine. Senior Eric Beasley won 50 dollars playing this game. Mrs. Chancellor even brought along the Tri-City Country Kickers to teach the party-goers some line dancing. This was a big hit with students like Racheal Lacey who said that the dances were "jamming."

The After Prom party was truly a memorable event. The varied activities provided something for everyone to enjoy. Above all, sharing the experience with good friends was the best part of each person's night. Lasting friendships and life long memories were made. An In-depth Perception

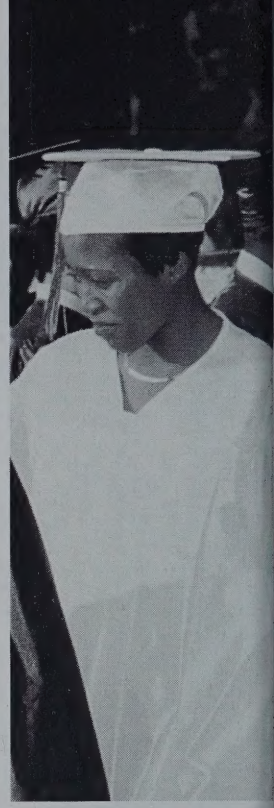
Graduation



"Graduation- it is the biggest experience of a young person's life. The class of 1997 had a very special graduation somewhat like a milestone for Prince George High School. We were the first freshmen class at Prince George High School, which gave us an advantage. In our four years at the high school, we had an opportunity to become better acquainted with teachers and principals. During our four years, we made many friendships with students, principals, teachers, or even custodians. After four years of friendships, exams, games, and typical high school experiences, the famous day finally came. Emotions were flying, everyone was crying and laughing about old times. Things for me were a blur. I do not remember getting my diploma, rather my thoughts as I crossed the stage. I thought back to everything I had been through, all the pep rallies, proms, and Homecomings. As I said goodbye to my teachers and Prince George High School, I realized how they helped to shape my life. As we marched off the field as the GRADUATED Class of 1997, everyone was filled with memories of school and the friendships that shaped our high school years. Graduation brings about many emotions — fear of what's to come, sadness about leaving friends, and excitement because the 13 years of work have finally paid off."

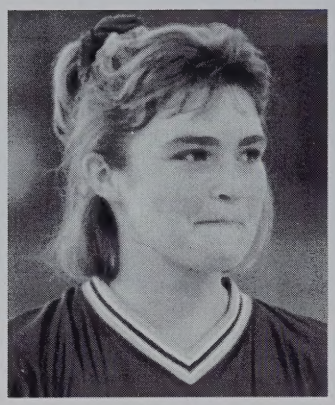
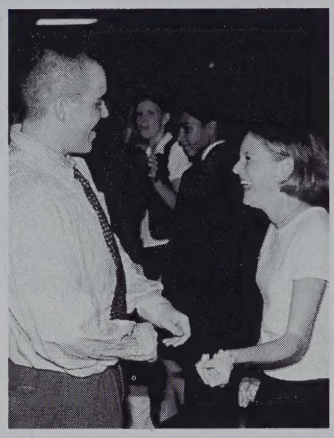
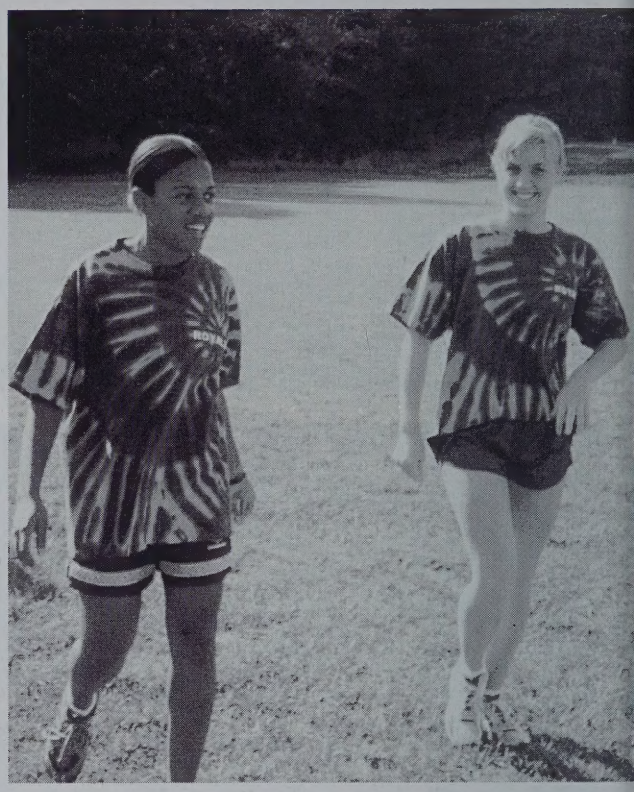
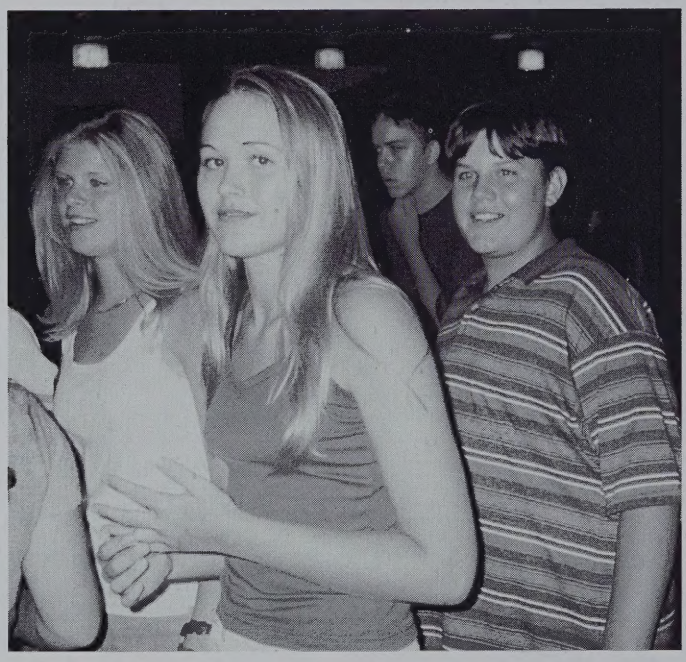
Opposites Attract

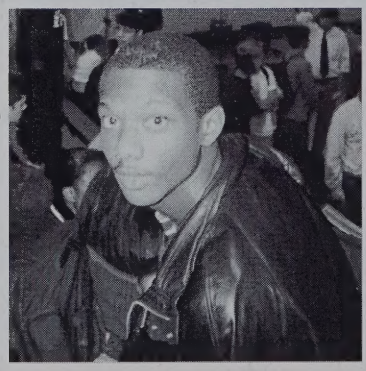
People

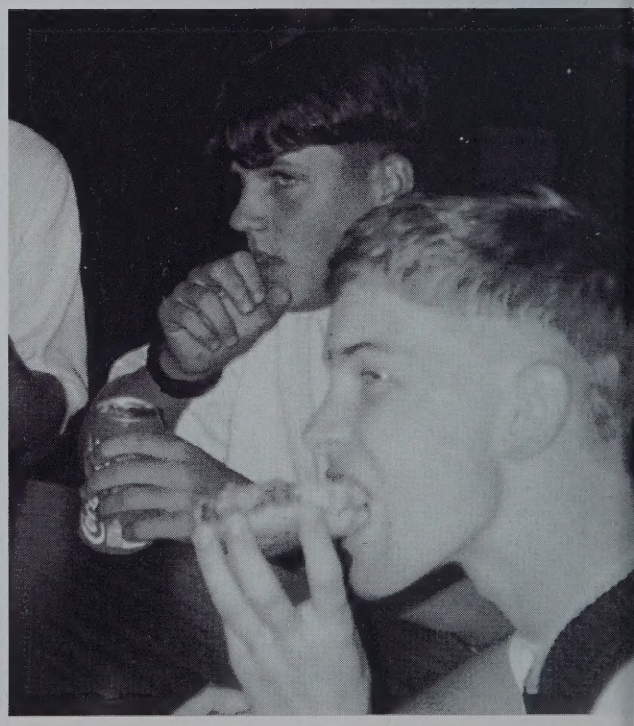












Every student was unique and independent. They each added spice and flair to the school population in their own way. From the food they ate, to the music they listened to, to the clothes they wore, students showed their style differently.

No one was afraid to show their true colors. Some students expressed their individuality by not dressing like the mainstream. Others changed the color of their hair to make themselves stand out. Still others were known for their personality and behavior.

There was extreme variety in the student body. Within every group of students, multitudes of interests were found. Despite this, each student shared a common interest, school pride and spirit. Whether it was for sporting events, fundraisers, or just for fun, everyone pulled together for the school. - Stephanie Hughes

Think quick ! You have five seconds to name a group of friends from a television show or movie. Five...four...three...two...one, Time's up ! Were you thinking of the Little Rascals ? Or perhaps Friends ? Maybe it was the group from 100 Acre Woods ? Now, you have five seconds to name three of your closest friends. Go ! five...four...three...two...one, stop ! Who came to mind ? Was it the person you grew up with most of your life ? Maybe it was your brother or sister ? Could it be that person in your math class that you despised a couple of years ago ?

No matter who you named or what you thought of them a year or two ago, you consider them to be your friend now. Our friends play a major role in our lives. Friendship is a relationship that is built upon faith and trust. This bond exists throughout our lifetime. Our friends are there for us during good and bad times. They are there to provide us with an encouraging word when it is needed or with a hug when we are down. Friends have a major influence in our lives and they are the people that we should always stand behind and have the upmost respect for. As we travel down the road of life, let's ponder the words of Stymie from the Little Rascals, " You only make a once in a lifetime buddy, once in a lifetime." - Cindy Shelton

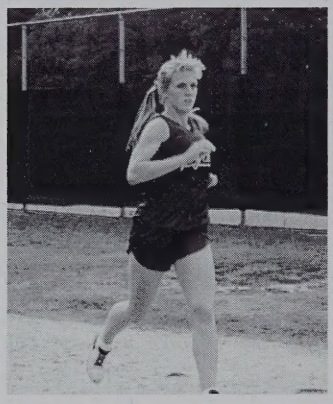
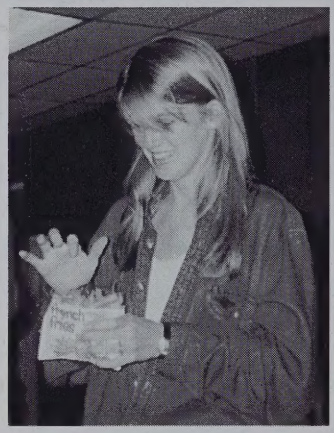
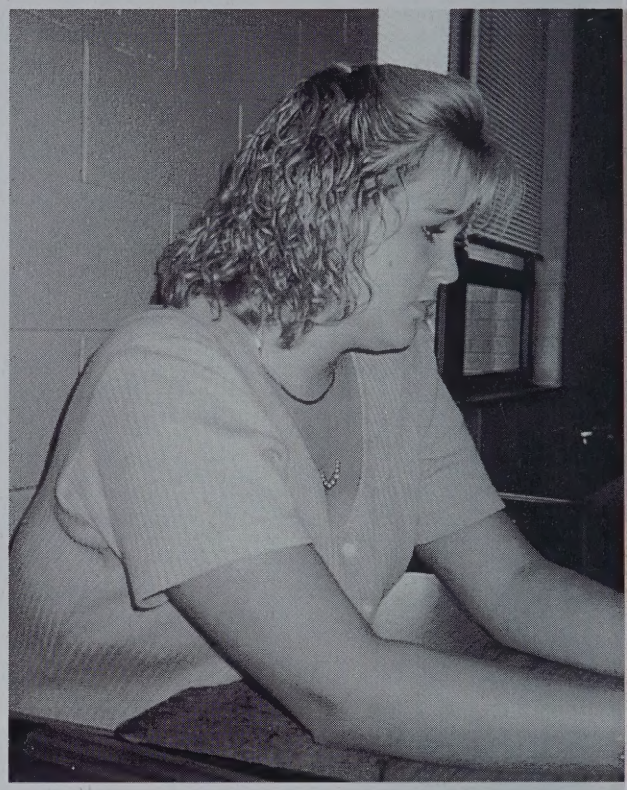
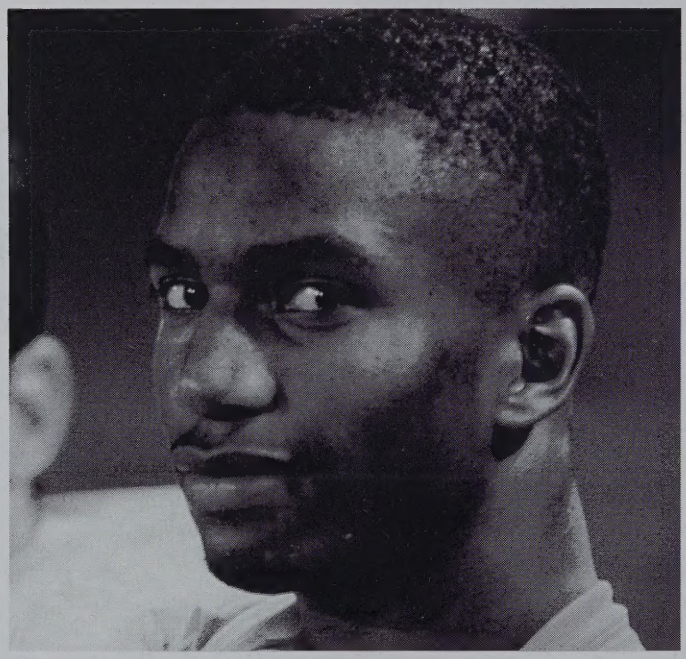
Up In The Years

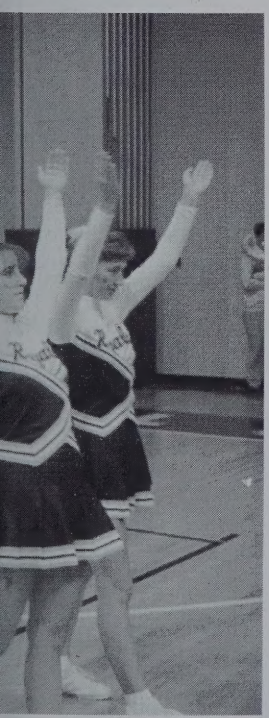
Seniors











"This is the time to remember, 'Cause it will not last forever, These are the days to hold onto, 'Cause we won't, although we want to"-Billy Joel. These words directly relate to the thoughts that run through the minds of seniors as they conclude the final year of their high school career. We all sit back and remember our first day of school or, better than that, our first day of high school. This era of nostalgia helps each and everyone of us deal with the changes we endure during our lifetime. The memories that are bequeathed to seniors remain a dominant chapter in their book of life. Instead of relinquishing the memories of the past, cherish them and maintain a positive outlook on the opportunities that lie ahead. - Cindy Shelton

The Class of 1998 In Review

What will you remember about your high school years? Maybe you'll remember when your friend ran into the pole in the parking lot with his car. Maybe you'll remember the day that you walked into the wrong class and sat down. You'll probably remember how your favorite teacher or guidance counselor helped you prepare for college. No matter what you remember, you will leave Prince George High School with a clutter of memories from your years here.

Many of you will never forget some of the top stories in the news since 1994. You were devastated by the tragic death of Princess Diana. You were shocked by the deaths of Michael Kennedy and Sonny Bono, both in one week, in skiing accidents. Who could forget the O. J. Simpson trial? Guilty or innocent; it was everywhere, the newspapers, the television, the radio. What about Mother Theresa? Her image will be etched into your memories for eternity. You all watched in horror as rescuers searched the shambles of the Oklahoma City Federal Building for survivors of the bombing. In search of justice, you also waited for the results of the Timothy McVeigh trial.

There were countless events that made the headlines during your high school years. It seems that there were more tragedies than ever before or maybe you were just more aware than ever before. These memories will stay with you throughout your lifetimes.

On a different note, what musicians will play on in your heads forever? Though no one knows quite why, Hanson and the Spice Girls constantly topped the charts. Dave Matthew's Band was a big hit with the Class of 1998. Still a favorite was Boyz II Men. On the country circuit, Garth Brooks and Reba McEntire still had your attention. Third Eye Blind, 311, and Sublime had your votes. Many of you said you would always be partial to Puff Daddy, Notorious B. I. G., and Jay-z. Locally, you were in tune to Worldwide.

A Closer Look

What keepsakes do you have from high school? Many of you will always keep and treasure your corsage from Prom or the ticket stub from your first football game. A Senior's years in high school are some of the most important in his lifetime. It is in high school that you get your first real look at life. You learn a lot and you come to grips with a lot, but the last four years of school are some of the best.

Ninth grade, what a year, right? It was the worst and the best year of your lives. You all enjoyed your first pep rallies. Getting more freedom and making new friends was fun. That is, until you faced reality. You couldn't goof off anymore. It was time to adapt to exams and a whole new style of education.

The Sophomore year was a little better. The excitement was gone though. You knew what high school was really about. You made the changes and prepared to hit the high road. Finally, a chauffeur was not necessary. You could drive yourselves around. Ordering class rings also gave something to look forward to.

Things were easier as a Junior. There was so much anticipation though. Anxiously, you waited for your Senior year. Graduation Rings were given out at the Ring Dance, adding to the anticipation. Then came your first Prom, a practice run for the big one.

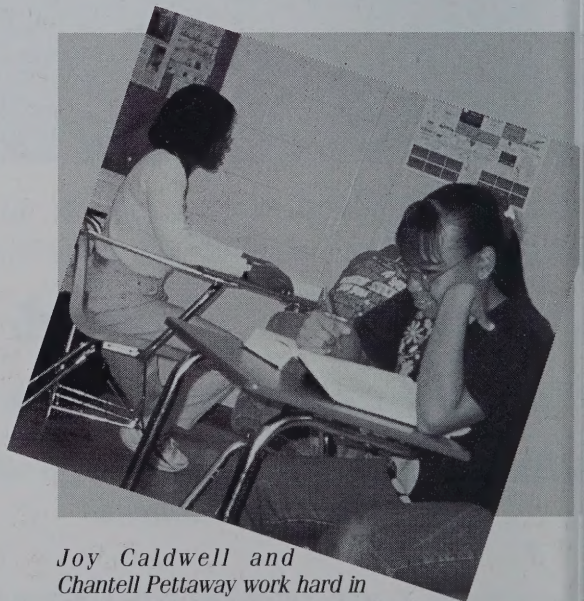
At last, the Senior year came. All of your hard work finally payed off. It was a time to reflect on the past and plan for the future. Some would be heading for college while others joined the work force.

In the end, one big memory will stand clear in each person's mind. That final walk across the stage to receive that diploma will live on forever in each person's heart and memories.
-Stephanie Hughes and Chris Sprader

Who were some of your favorite teachers during high school?

1. Mr. Washabaugh
2. Mrs. Britt
3. Ms. Hedgepeth

When asked about her most embarrassing moment Mary Brady says, "I had the range car in neutral. I wasn't going anywhere but I couldn't figure out why. Coach Waguespack had to get down out of the tower and put the car in drive for me."



Joy Caldwell and Chantell Pettaway work hard in English while they count down the days until graduation.

Jennifer Murphy, Kim Schraner, and Lori Ganoe take a moment to reflect on their time in high school.

Encouraging words for the class of 1999. . .

"Be nice to your teachers. They hold your diploma in the palms of their hands!"

— Mary Beth Lesniak

"Carpe diem. That's Latin for seize the day. Make the most of your time. 'Cause one day you may wake up and everything will be gone."

— Jason Sagadraca

"Make everything that you can of your Senior year. It goes by faster than you can imagine."

— Callie Angle

After a long day at school, Tiffany Budd ponders her hopes and dreams for life after high school.

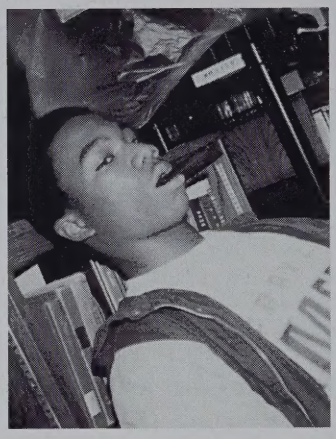
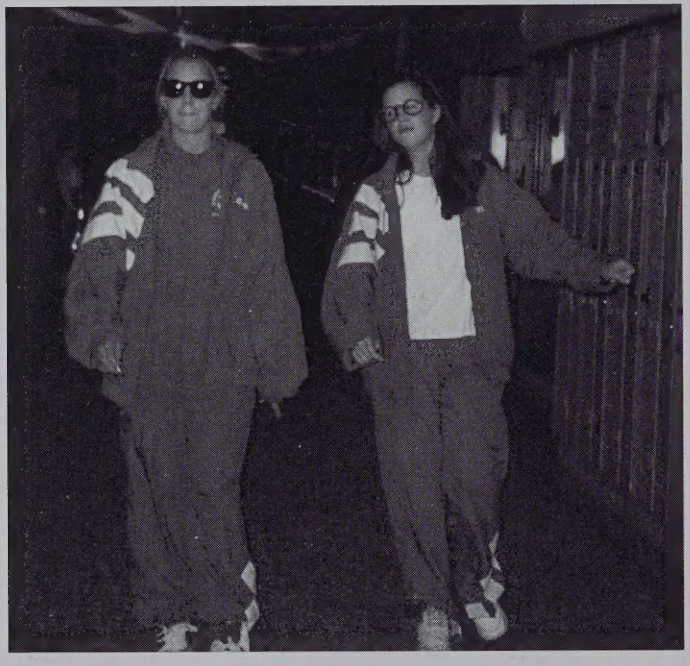
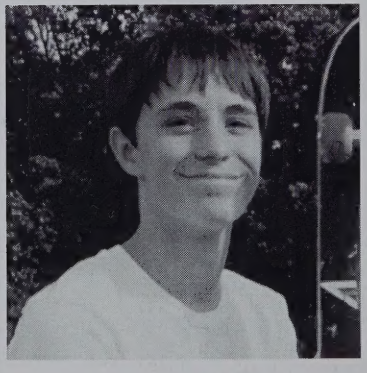
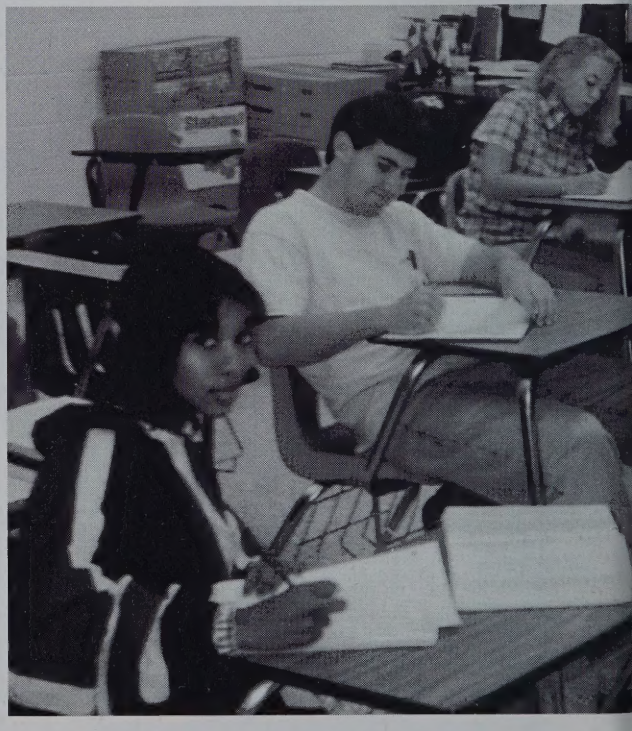
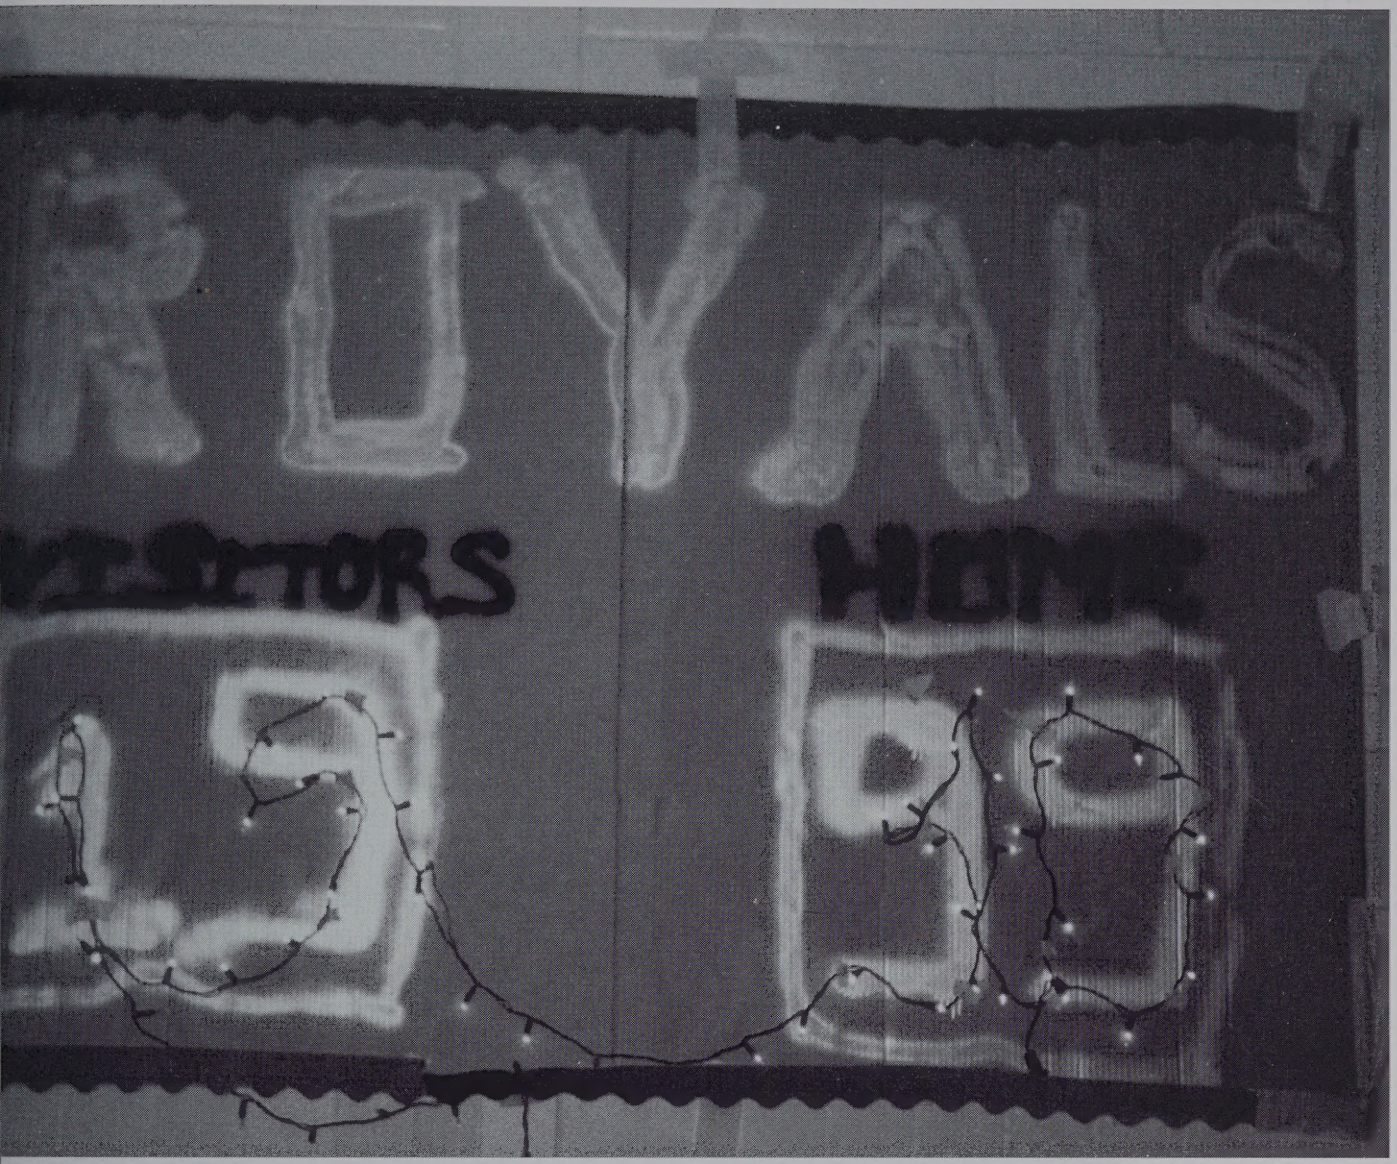
Juniors

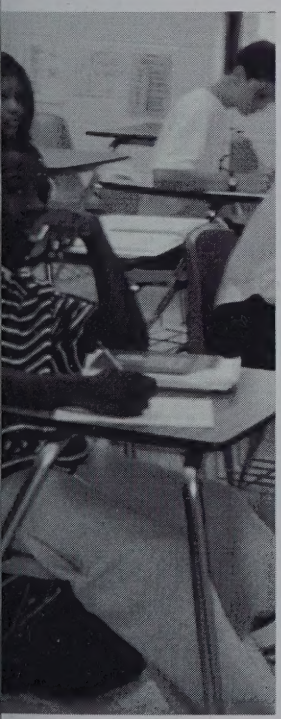












The last class of the twentieth century...How important is that ?!

They started the second half of their high school years, which will soon come to an end. The class of 1999 experienced such things as the Ring Dance, Prom, and, for most of them, the first year without gym!

A car wash was held, a bake sale, and drinks were sold at the homecoming dance for money to help make all of these memories possible. These are some of the best years of their lives, and to quote the artist formerly know as Prince "party like it's 1999!" - Kaylon Travers

Nita Davison and her date share a happy time together chatting.

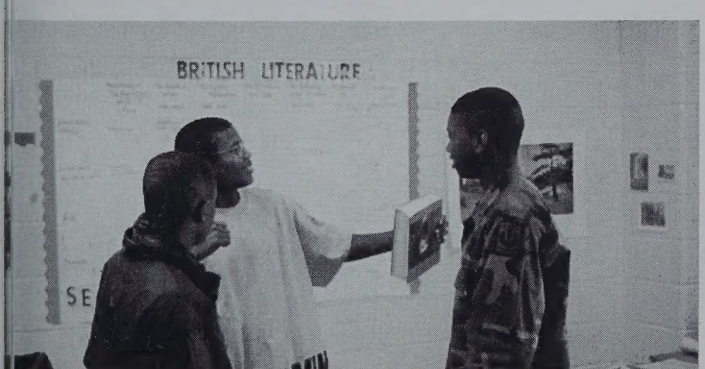
The Junior Class Officers were extremely important. Not only were they the student leaders, but these individuals were the backbone of all Junior Class functions. These students led us to earn money for a terrific Ring Dance and Prom.

Every group has to have sponsors. The Junior Class was grateful to have two wonderful sponsors like Mrs. Hamlin and Mrs. Marchioli-Acra. They helped the group get on task. A great thank you goes out to all these people. Without them most of these memories would not have been made possible or as much fun. -Kaylon Travers



"And then..." Jemel Richardson discusses the literature assignment in full detail to Michael Robinson and Greg Greene.

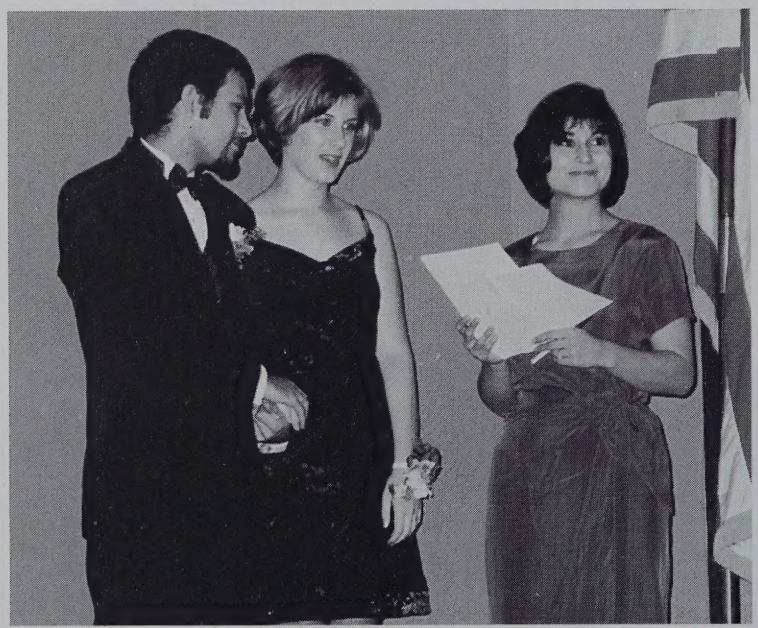
Party Like It's 1999

Ring Dance 1997

The evening of November 15, 1997, was a night of friends, memories, and a way for the Junior Class to get down, express themselves and "party like it's 1999!"

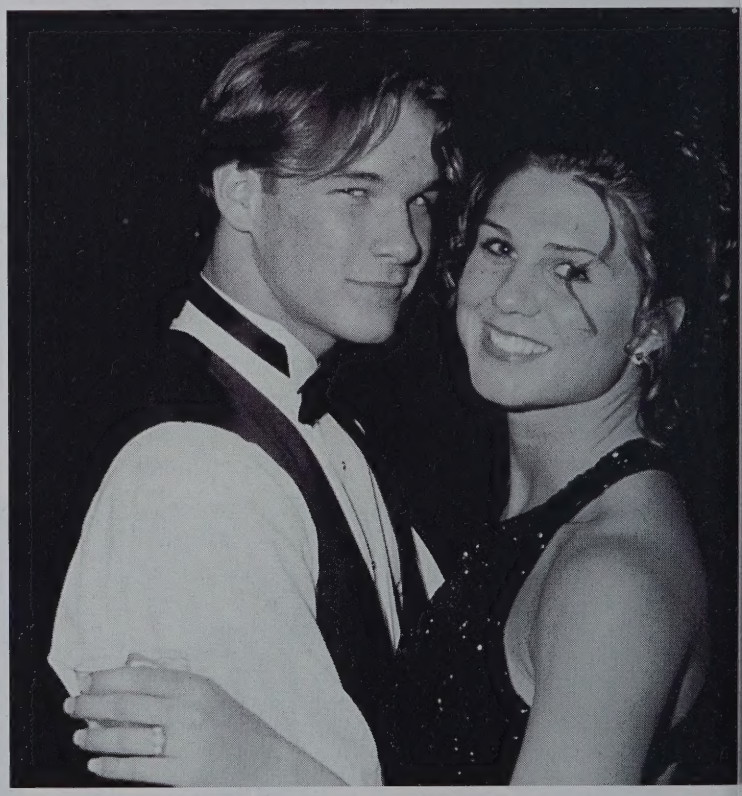
The first ever ring ceremony went on without a hitch. Speeches were given about the four parts of receiving a ring. Sarah Shultz elaborated on the history of receiving a ring. Rebecca Ende talked about symbolism, while Ashley Johnson spoke about unity. Andrea Thweatt enlightened us on the tradition behind the ring. Renee Lamb opened up the ceremony with the wonderful assistance of the class sponsors, Mrs. Hamlin and Mrs. Marchioli-Acra. Mr. Woody announced each member of the Junior class and their date as they stepped on stage to receive their ring from Mrs. Martin.

The change of having the Ring Dance at school brought up a lot of complaints. But it seemed everyone had an excellent time with a lovely ceremony and more room to dance. The night ended way too soon. Now the only thing left to share is the memories. The Ring Dance may not have been everyone's idea of a perfect night, but one thing's for sure, it was a night the class of 1999 will never forget. - Mandie Costley

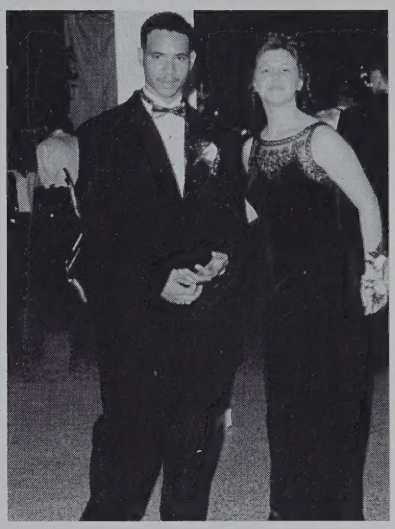


Mrs. Marchioli-Acra smiles as she gladly escorts Rebecca Ende and Greg Garcia onto the stage.

May I cut in? Ricky Mixell and Kelly McDaniel dance the night away at "It's Ou Turn" 1997.



Mesmerized by Love- Tiffany Leimberger and John Wilkinson take their eyes off other long enough for a quick snapshot.



May I help you? Bonnie Jackson and Audie Pettaway take a break from dancing to savor the evening in each others company.

So what do you think? Andrea Hill expresses her opinon about Crystal Crockett's class ring during the ceremony.

Ashley Johnson and Aaron Channel show their pearly whites as Mrs. Martin distributes their class rings.

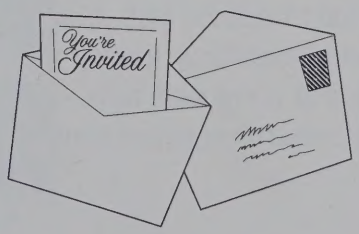
Bianca Cobb and her date sit back, relax, and enjoy the ring ceremony.



Taking A Closer Look

For the Sophomores it was just another year; another year of homework, studying for tests, dreading exams, and counting down the days until summer. Despite all of the work, there were many things that were looked forward to. Instead of having another Social Studies class, they were allowed another elective. The Sophomores picked out and ordered their class rings, made drivers uneasy by taking the road test, and, of course, had another memorable year with friends.

The Sophomores showed the Seniors how things were when they won the Spirit Stick at the Homecoming Pep Rally. They displayed the most school spirit. Sophomore Katie O'Donnell said, "It was great that we won the spirit trophy, even though we deserved it last year, too."

After school had come to a close, they look back and realized that it had been another year of great times with friends, school activities, and hard work. Ali Bresko, another Sophomore, said, "This year has been great. Next year will be even better." The rest of the class could not agree more. -Rachel McCauley

Sophomore Resolutions

'e surveyed Ms. Bishop's tenth grade English classes to find out their hopes, dreams, and aspirations. Here are the results of the ten most common dreams.

ake and keep good grades.

ake it to college.

o have a more positive attitude towards life and ol.

o exceed in life and not just be average.

o overlook those who feel they need to oppress rs.

6. To keep it real.

7. To make life long friends.

8. To study more throughout the year and especially at exam time.

9. To stop the violence and keep the peace.

10. To make it through high school without going insane.

uess what I'm trying to say is that High School resolutions are made by everyone, whether or not they are lived out 's left up to you. I know I have my own and I'm sure you have one too, big or small everybody dreams. Whether it's a e with the Prom King or scoring the winning touchdown in the Homecoming Game. So in closing I have to say, we only live once so dream big because life is too short to live small. - Adam Carter

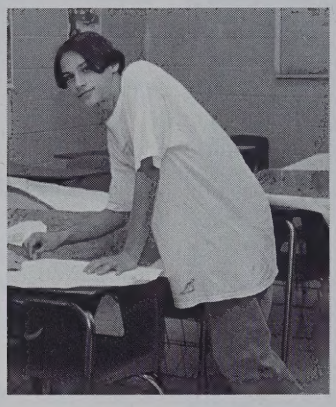
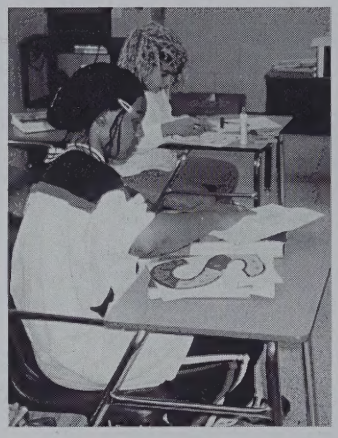
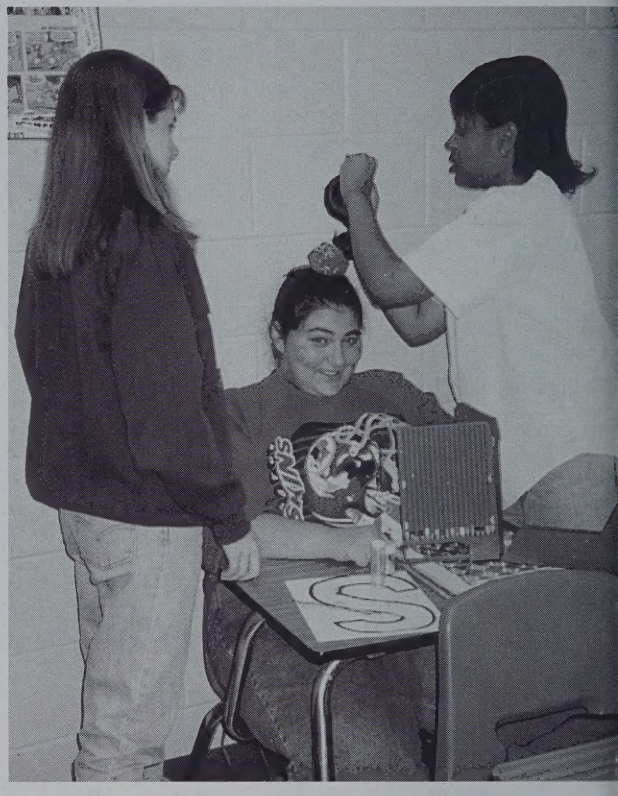
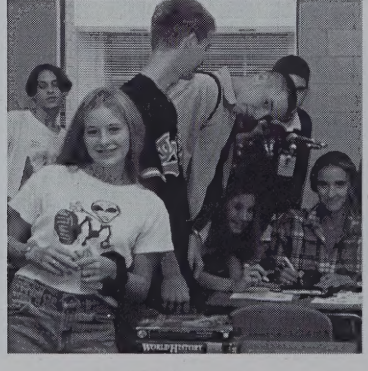
Closing in on Another Level

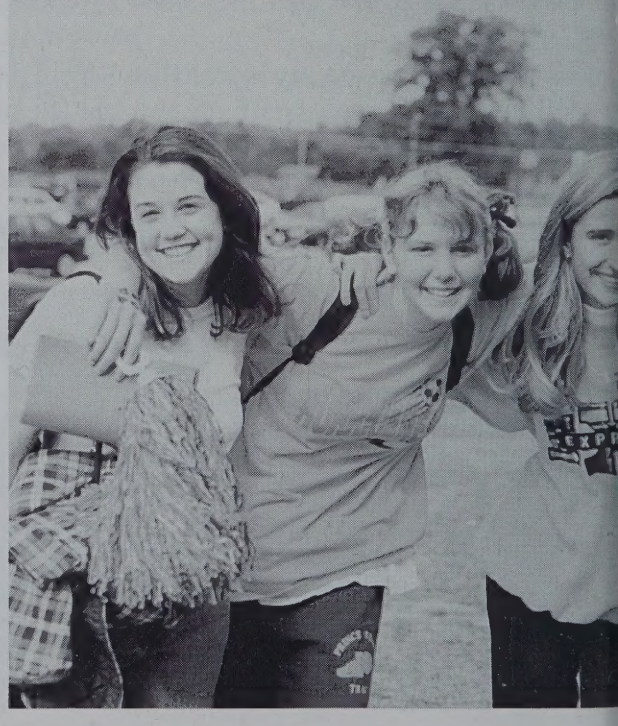
Freshmen











Fast talkers, fast walkers, silly songs... this is the kind of stuff students had to deal with at the ninth grade orientation. Instead of the talkers and tour guides helping them, they puzzled them more! By the first day of school, most of them were confused on where to go and how to get there. At the end of the first week, they were pros. They were joining clubs, talking to friends between classes, and discovering how teachers "baby" the freshmen and not the upper classmen. But on the flip side, the teachers that baby them also give the most homework and try to lean them toward an independent lifestyle and prepare them for the future. Another good thing about being a freshman was knowing they were a year closer to graduation! Class of 2001 rocks! — Melanie Heathfield and Tino Whitted

A Theory on Cliques

In most high schools, cliques are a big thing. You are separated into groups by the way you look, act, and dress. However, our freshmen are a group as one. They are a class, not separated by the color of skin, the music they listen to, or the way they dress. We work together as a group to accomplish their goals in life. Sinatra Grace, a freshman, stated, "I believe it is an excellent experience to know different kinds of people so that you can learn about their lives and cultures." Israel Battle said,"I believe that no matter what differences you have with people you should still ac that someone as a pe who has goals and dre
just like you." The fresh

THIS is the Life

We tried to categorize people into different groups. Then we realized that people are people and can't be labeled. When we received our surveys back, we also got comments on how people reacted to being labeled. We received comments such as:

"I am me, myself, and I. Some days I may be normal or go preppy and some days get a little more comfortable and do the baggy jeans and Timberland look."-Michelle Myrick.

"I don't belong to any group I'm just friends with whomever I want to be."-Amy Brown.

"I normally wear whatever I want to or whatever I have." -Sharonda Johnson.

"Who has the right to say who belongs to what group or put a label on the way a person dresses."-Mike Mahke.

Freshmen Hangouts

A survey was taken on hangouts, just to see where Freshmen hangout. Most Freshmen LOVE the mall. At the mall they see movies, play in the arcade, shop, and just hangout. Sharonda Johnson had this to say about hangouts and what she does when she hangs out, "Wherever we want, whatever we want." Katie Field said, "We hangout wherever, just a place where we can be ourselves and be stupid."

Freshmen hangout anywhere that they anywhere that they have friends and anywhere they feel like. When they hangout they are themselves and they just have FUN!

We've got SPIRIT

The most important people in the Freshmen class, would be the Freshmen class officers. They are who make the most important decisions that affect us.

Homecoming was the first event that the officers had to deal with. They did very well considering all the pressure they had on their hands. Everyone was waiting to see the loser freshmen battle the upperclassmen in the spirit trophy and the hall decorations. But this year we had one of the best homecoming halls ever. The freshmen blew away the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth graders away when they saw what a great job we did. Already the freshmen officers are preparing for the future Junior Ring Dance and Junior/Senior Prom by selling candy.

Students will remember the excellence of the Freshmen Class Officers throughout their life. The important decisions they make will affect us until our graduation day.-Melanie Heathfield, Daniel McBride, Teylonda Alsobrook, and Deann Bryan

Cheerleaders Go To States!

"Boom! I got your boyfriend! I got your man!" This is only a portion of a dance song that is carrying the Prince George Varsity Cheerleading Squad to the Virginia High School League National State Cheerleading Competition. It all started when the team placed second at the District Competition. This moved the squad to the Regional Competition, where the squad placed fourth. This achievement has led them to the State Competition. Prince George County is very proud of the squad, since it is the only cheerleading squad to ever be among the top squads in the district and move on to regionals and states.

In the past, cheerleading was referred to as a "club" with girls yelling and jumping around. Because of this year's accomplishments, cheerleading is now recognized as a true Co-ed Varsity sport and has reached a level higher than some other varsity sports at PGHS.

Tara Foster, the squad's head coach, has done an excellent job with the squad. Good luck Varsity, make us proud!- Mandie Costley and Shandale Hall

We Are Such Stuff As Dreams Are Made Of

Production

On some stage somewhere, someone is putting on a play. Each person involved is essential to the productivity of the show. These individuals are the actors, the 'techies', and ultimately, the director.

Acting is said to be much like life only bigger. Every action on stage must be larger than life. The is accomplished by familiarizing yourself with a script, developing a character, developing motivation, mannerisms, and movement through a character, and doing as that character would do. Then there are hours and hours of rehearsals. The final end product is a polished piece of art that we call the theatre. Sarah Massey, a junior in theatre arts said, "Theatre is my outlet of expression; when I am on stage, I truly feel free."

Within the process are things you do not see. For every actor on the stage, there are numerous crew members behind the scenes. They are responsible for the designing and constructing a set, gathering and securing props and costumes, and designing and controlling lights. The technical crew must have everything in its place when needed.These people work as hard as the actors do to produce a show. These are Jami Washington's feelings on being a part of the production, "Working in the theatre is a bittersweet experience. You work hard for a couple of months, having the time of your life, then in three days it's over."

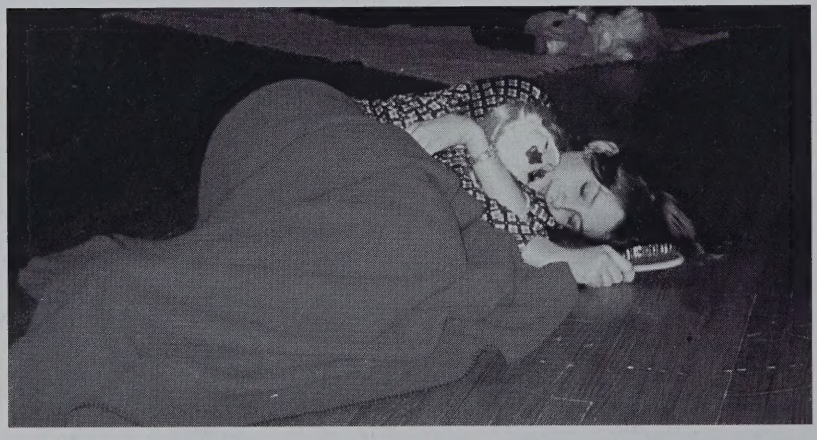
There is one person who pulls these two groups of people together. She is our director and we know her as "Mzzzz" Bishop. She puts a lot of her time and effort into a majority of the school year. She possesses many talents which she utilizes in coaching her cast and crew through a rehearsal process. "Mzzzz" Bishop stated that, " the Prince George Theatre Department has a solid foundation of acting and technical support and is anxious to expand all theatrical aspects in the future. As a director, I feel Prince George has the potential to become a 'power house' for the theatrical art."

The actors, "techies," and director work very diligently on performances for the school year. This year, in all, there were three shows produced; each a success of its own.

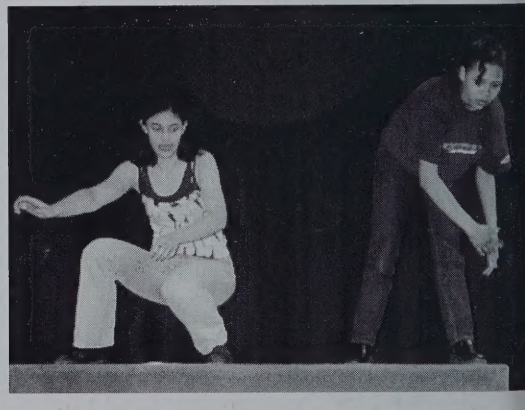
"Impromptu," a one-act, was the first show of the year. Four actors were placed on a stage with no script and attempted to play people so different from themselves. But there was one problem, the more they tried to be someone else, the more the real essence of who they were shined through. This show was performed at the VTA (Virginia Theatre Association) Competition at the Marriot in Richmond.

Each year VHSL holds a Drama Festival. "Perchance To Dream," a rummage through short stories and fairy tales, was showcased at this year's competition. The Competition was held at CHHS. It was a day full of plays from selected schools in our community. The day was a wonderful experience for all. Eliza Lamb, a freshman stated, "It was great seeing schools from all over coming together for one common goal. . . performing."

The Spring Production of the year was Such Stuff, a conglomeration of "Perchance to Dream" and other short stories, fairy tales, and a few familiar songs. The concept of the play was based on a line from William Shakespeare's The Tempest, "We are such stuff as dreams are made of." The play opened with two dreamers selling dreams. Throughout the play many tales were performed including Kwaku Ananse, Dilan Kifki, Rapunzel and 12 Dancing Princesses. These stories were accompanied by songs, "Mr. Sandman," "My Girl," and "Just One Look," just to name a few. With the combined talents of the cast and crew, Such Stuff was a wonderful show for all who were willing to suspend their disbelief and just sit back, relax, and enjoy.-Cindy Shelton

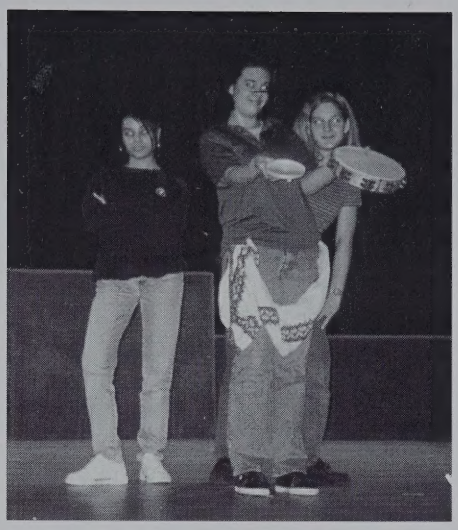


Eliza Lamb is the victim of the dreamers powers. Here she lays trying "to sleep, ah perchance to dream."

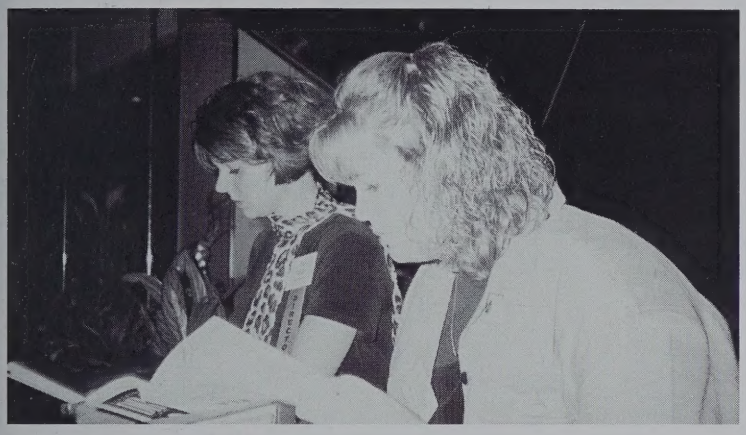


Jamela Bullock and Leia Manuel sell the dreams in opening sequence. With their combined musical tale and dedication, they put their all into everything they on the stage.

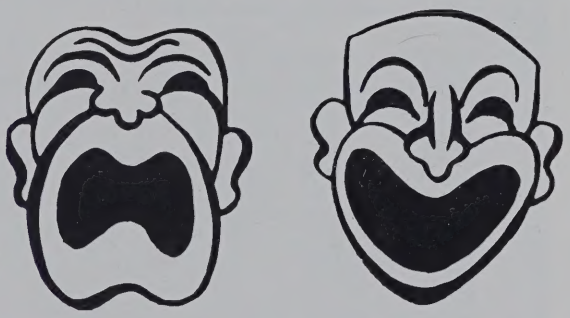
Derek Jolley is very relaxed before the performance of "Impromptu." He is a valuable asset to the theatre department in which he serves as an actor and a "techie."

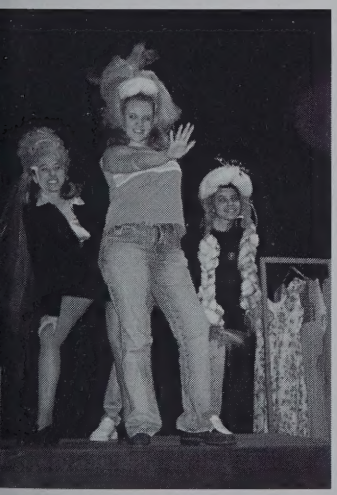


"Would you take the biggest journey cake with my curses or the smallest with my blessings?" Nadyne Gammon played a mother in Journey Cakes who did the best she could to provide for her daughters.



Cindy Shelton opens up the program guide for the competition, looking over the whole layout. Beside her, Mz Stephanie Bishop touches up on some last minute work.





ndrea Danielson, Alice Cates, and hanon Johnson make-up the Hair rio in the song "Big Hair" during e story of Rapunzel.

Now I lay me down to sleep. . . Vanessa Ragland and Emily Mosley are out for the count. Vanessa's great personality and Emily's charming smile always brighten rehearsals, even after a long day at achool.

Up To Bat

Varsity Baseball

The crowds went wild as the Boys' Varsity Baseball team hit their way into a victorious season. They went nine and three in the regular season, winning 15 games overall. The team was great defensively as well as offensively. On his way to being named Central District Player of the Year, shortstop David Roalf set a new team record by hitting .543.

For the first time ever, the team stole 100 bases. Third baseman Derrick Whiting was selected as Second Team All Central District. Coach Roberts cited a six to five win over Dinwiddie to advance to the Central Region Tournament as the high point of the season. Coach Roberts also said, "the team was able to accomplish many things through hard work during practice and heads-up play in games. The team was able to focus on what had to be done and that led to their success". -Mark Antunes

Is he safe or out? Eric Atkinson did not have time to ask himself questions like that as he ran as fast as he could to second base.

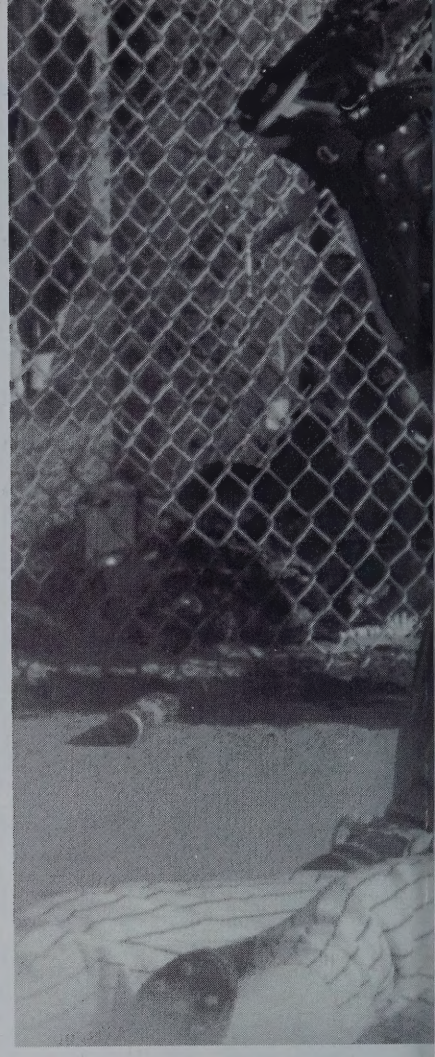
Varsity Softball



The Lady Royals Softball Team defeated Lee-Davis High School to earn a trip to the State AAA Torurnament. This was the first time in 17 years that the Royals had been to the State Tournament. There is no real way to express the feelings the team shared when Jaime Donivan knocked the winning run. Tears came flowing and there was a great relief. There is nothing that feels better in the world than when a team pulls together to accomplish something great. Players that sacrifice their bodies for the team truly do have a desire, and it was a strong vibration coming from everyone on the team that very night. The whole world became silent to the team except for the ring of victory in the girls hearts. That was a great experience for all. - Rachel Morris

Boys' Tennis

After Coach Cash decided to hang up his racket for the Boys' Varsity Tennis Team, a new and eclectic coach, Mr. Burton, decided to take up the challenge. Not only was he a new member of the team, but the team also experienced young, new talents. With so many changes involving the team, people expected them to suffer heavy blows and losses. However, the team proved them all wrong and decided that it was their turn to leave their mark.

The Boys' Varsity Tennis Team was like a second family to its members. Even though people expected them to be rough and tough, they were really a bunch of down-to-earth guys who were extremely supportive of each other. They were always able to make tennis fun with their humorous personalities. Each member of the team tried to bring the best out in each other. The team is known for its winning streaks and triumphs over rival teams. When the team was beaten by an opponent, they were still able to congratulate the opponent with a sportsmanlike attitude.

The members of the tennis team truly allow the sport of tennis to be bigger than life. With this quality in mind, the team holds on to its reputation of being an outstanding team. -Richard Kim

With expectations running high, the Boys' Varsity Soccer Team carried on their tradition of excellence. Being crowned Central District Champions for the fifth year in a row and Central District Tournament Champions for the third year straight, the boys' proved that they were the team that everyone wanted to beat.

After a shaky start at the Strictly Soccer Tournament, they went on to finish with a 10-0 record in the district. They extended their winning streak in the Central District to 36 games.

Coach Dalton stated, "this team was led with individual talent, and they endured many obstacles on their way to another successful season." The team proved their talent with an outstanding victory over the region's number one ranked team, Douglass Freeman. - John Brown

Coming Together for a Common Goal
The Girls' Varsity Soccer Team

The Girls' Varsity Soccer Team trained, worked, and played hard during the season. They all endured through many feats, discovering newer things about themselves. By working together, they could rely on one another to help each other out. They would never give up, always striving to make it through a game. By doing so, they realized they were able to play better each and every game thereafter. They all knew that they never had to do it alone. In their hearts, they knew they were a team.

The team was under the leadership of Kelly McDaniel and Whitney Shaw. Special recognition went to Kim Snyder, Angela Ramos, and Joanne Scott for receiving honorable mention. First Team All-District goes to Whitney Shaw, who was also the MVP of the season, and Second Team All-District goes to Nikki Jourden, the most improved player of the season.

Though it was a hard season for the team, they managed to get through it with flying colors. Abbie Minach said it was "a learning experience and it helped us grow together as a team." Coach York comments, "Yes, for only the second time in our history, we finished play with a losing record; but in a refreshing sort of way, we discovered we were winners." -Chris Sprader Against all odds the girls had a record breaking season of 6-3-4. In addition to their season record, Melinda Schieber broke the scoring record with 21 goals.

Despite being a young team, they possessed a positive attitude and showed great teamwork. Although the offense was led by Melinda Schieber, the defense had a leader of their own, Courtney Davis.

The highlight of the season was a 4-4 tie over Thomas Dale. Coach Haase stated that "these girls have a lot of potential and a promising future in girls soccer." - John Brown

Life In The Fast Lane

Track and Field

Keep going, never give up! That was the key phrase that the track team applied to everthing they did. Even though the team was fairly inexperienced, team members had a great attitude and were always willing to put forth some extra effort. Michelle McClellan and Rebecca Barnes were recognized as all-time captains.

Heath Mikell said," Our pole vaulters and distance runners were exceptional." The team worked hard in practice and it showed at the meets. The team won more than it lost and all the losses were close. The team showed great courage and ability as well as fine sportsmanship. Coach Rivera cited beating Meadowbrook, a team they had not beaten in three years, as the high point of the season.

Mark Antunes said, "The team was really close knit and we all gave 110% at everything we did."

Even though the track team was as large as it was, everyone was able to focus on individual events, without distraction. In addition to winning a lot of races seniors, such as Matt Indelicato and Kenny Carmichael, showed the younger and less experienced runners what to do. After all, teamwork was what it was all about. - Mark Antunes

The Bomb Squad!

The Varsity Cheerleading squad opened its season with a blast and continued to explode throughout the first half of the season. With Captains Shandale Hall and Callie Angle leading the spirited team, the whole squad astonished the school and community with their performances and accomplishments. The cheerleaders reached an all-time high elite status and proved themselves worthy of being recognized as true athletes. With hard work and self-discipline, the 16 energetic females and four pumped up guys worked together through the strenuous practices nearly everyday to make Prince George proud.

The Central District Cheerleading Competition was held on November 10. The varsity squad placed second, which moved them on to the Central Regional Competition on November 19. Although the squad was nervous, they performed a flawless routine, which won them a place among the top four teams competing. This promoted the squad to the State Competition on March 21, 1998.

None of these goals would have been achieved without the support of the coaches: Tara Foster, Kim Edwards, and Jeff Melesky.

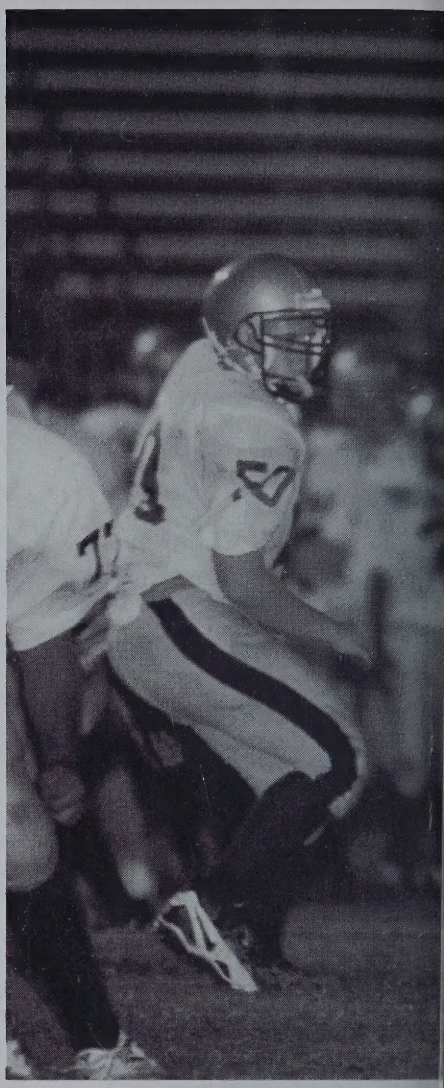
Getting Closer to the Top

J.V. Cheerleading and Football



The J.V. Football team truly overcame the odds after losing the majority of the starting line-up to the varsity team. Coach Chandler brought this Cinderella team up to an awesome 6-3 season. This team was driven by heart and an unstoppable defense. "A lot of new, young players stepped up and did a super job. Included in this group were several talented running backs and an overall relentless defense," comments Coach O'Hare.

The J.V. Cheerleading squad also lost most of their girls, only having four returners and a new coach to lead the youngest cheerleading squad in the school's history. They represented the underclass well. The team captain, Jessica Maxey, was the prime choice for the position this year. The decision to add eighth graders to the squad was not an easy one and slowly but surely they adjusted. They performed an exciting routine at the Homecoming Pep Rally and did a curtain call for the varsity squad at The 4th Annual District Cheerleading Competition at Petersburg High School. They also chose "Big Sisters and Big Brothers" on Varsity to exchange gifts and receive valuable advice and guidance that could someday help them as they become a "Big Sister or Big Brother" on Varsity.

"Being a member of the Golf team was definitely an experience that I will never forget. It was great being accepted by a group of guys that, for the past years, have never had a girl as a part of the team. 'There was not much difference between coaching Rachel or coaching the other guys' said Coach Burton. Nevertheless, Morgan Felty and I were the only new comers to the sport of golf. The guys were very kind and always friendly. 'It was strange at first, but once I got to know her it was alright,' replied Doug Mitchell. They invited me to Subway and McDonalds some days after practice. That really made me feel as if I was 'one of the guys.' They respected my ability as an athlete and treated me like one, not just another girl. It was such an honor to be a part of such a great team. They appointed six captains: Danny Wood, Charles Lamb, Jasen McClellan, Lori Ganoe, Beth Harding, and Julie Weston. Every captain portrayed excellent leadership.

Danny Wood quotes, "Although we played less games in practice, the coaches made the season fun while they were running with us." Usually, coaches don't run with the team. These coaches motivated the other runners, encouraging them to work together and kept them closely knit.

Coach Rivera commented on the team's work ethic by saying, "This was the hardest working group I have ever coached. We were a very close team, which helped with the ups and downs of the season." He claimed that the inexperience of the team hurt the outcome of some races. Although the team was young, there were eight All-District runners from our school. GIRLS' TENNIS

The Girls' Tennis Team was undefeated in the district for the eighth straight year with a 12-0 district record. Seniors Laura Veazey, Jennifer Murphy, and Elizabeth Myers were the team captains for the season. They provided great leadership and set outstanding examples for the other young women. Besides being the team captains, Laura Veazey and Jennifer Murphy were the District Runner-Up Doubles team.

From the top to the bottom of the ladder, the team's complete skill level was one of their strong points. The girls also showed an enormous amount of dedication and a very strong work ethic. Through practice and hard work, each girl improved her game, leading to the hardest win of the season against Clover Hill in the Regional Quarterfinals.

The highlight of the season came when awards were given out to several girls. Lea Spencer was named All District, All Academic, and All Region. She was also chosen as the Winning District Singles player. Also to make All District, All Academic, and All Region were Anne Myers and Laura Veazey.

The girls finished off a tremendous season by being named Winning District Team. About receiving this honor, Laura Veazey stated,"Whoever said third times a charm never won eight districts in a row." - Stephanie Hughes and Chris Sprader

Shaking Up The Scores

Boys' Varsity Basketball

After many long practices and a lot of hard work, the Boys' Varsity Basketball Team finished off the regular season with a 13-8 record. They placed second in the District Tournament, and in the Richmond Times-Dispatch Area Poll, they ranked as high as eighth place. Captains DeShaun James, Justin Smiley, and Jerren Lightfoot, with the guidance and know-how of coaches Bill Russell, Nelson Britt, and Robert Brooks, led their team in a great season. After the Districts and the Regionals, their record was 15-10. They finished third for the regular season and third at the Fort Lee Christmas Tournament.

This was the strongest Prince George team in several years, consisting of very talented players with a true love for the game. DeShaun James and Justin Smiley were named Second Team All District, and Randy Patrick received Honorable Mention. Coach Russell described his team as "Short in stature, long in heart." Despite their heights, the guys had speed on their sides. They used their quickness effectively to move around the opponent and score the win several times.

Forward, Randy Patrick catches a rebound to help lead the team to a victory over Thomas Dale. The game ended with a score of 68-65, leaving the team with 15 wins.

As a whole, they were very close. This proved to be highly beneficial on the court. The guys showed everyone that they were a force to be reckoned with. Having a team that was willing to play hard, play smart, and play together is what really scored the points.

The team made history in Prince George. They beat Hopewell three times during the season for the first time ever. They also reached the District Finals Tournament which has not been done since 1966. The team came from behind at Benedictine to win the game. They were down by eleven points in the fourth quarter, but pulled together for their toughest victory.

The guys played on their strengths and used their weaknesses to their own advantage. According to Coach Russell, the team was "a group of overachievers who did not let newspapers and fans who had written them off dictate what type of season they would have." The guys proved to be a team that not only the players and coaches would be proud of, but the school and community as well.-Stephanie Hughes

No Boundaries

Girls' Varsity Basketball

NO PAIN NO GAIN

"If you think you can win, you can win. Faith is necessary to victory."
— William Hazlitt, On Great and Little Things

The Girls' Varsity Basketball team ended the season with a 11-9 record. The highlight of the season came against Dinwiddie, in which they won 79-38. Their first game against Thomas Dale became a tough one, however. At halftime, the team was seven points below Thomas Dale. In the last few seconds of the game, they came back and won by one point, making it the teams' hardest win of the season.

As a former J.V. coach and a first year Varsity coach, Coach Haase and her players had to adjust and adapt to a new change. Would there be any tension within the team, any differences because of this? "When you get a group of people together, there will always be differences," Coach Haase stated, "but these girls knew if they wanted to win they would have to cooperate with one another and I feel we all worked together as a team."

For a team to be victorious, players must have a good attitude, be willing to play as a team, be able to play hard, and be competitive. Dedication and hard work are also some qualities players need to have a successful season. These are the qualities a coach looks for in their players.

Choosing captains to lead a team can be the most important decision in an sport, but a not so easy task to ac complish. In order to lead a team t victory, a coach looks for a captain wh has a positive attitude. A coach wants leader who will set a good example fo the rest of the team to follow and is responsible, hard worker. Nina Stark and Jenny Ludwig were specifically cho sen to accomplish this task success fully.

Ask any coach or player and they' tell you that in order to have a suc cessful season, there must be som form of training to prepare you. That' just what the team did, too, train har and long. Over the summer, a few o the players went to camps to train. S that their knowledge of basketball di not go to any waste, Nina Starks an Lori Ganoe played AAU. Before th start of the season, most of the player attended conditioning to help bette their skills as athletes.

The honor of being named MVPs o the season goes out to Nina Stark who was also named All District Playe of the Year. Other awards went to Ac lesha McGahee for 2nd All District an was named Offensive Player of th Year, Jenny Ludwig for the Coach Award, Rebecca Adams for Defensiv Player of the Year, and finally Lori C noe for Most Inspirational.

Shooting for the Stars

Boys and Girls JV Basketball

Things just keep getting better and better for the JV boys basketball team. The team won 12 games, three more than they did the previous year. One reason for this was because the team came first for all the athletes. Coach Crawford said, "Our main strengths were our defense and our teamwork." At one point, the team came off a bitter loss to beat the number three team in the state, Highland Springs, 60-50. The team won six of its last seven games. Even though the team lost two starters early in the season and the leading scorer near the end, the team was able to play great all season. — Mark Antunes

Looking at the JV girls basketball team is like looking into a crystal ball; in a year or two, this team will be the Varsity team and considering how the JV team played, that is a good thing. Coach Dixon said, "This year's JV team is the best that there has ever been in Prince George. As a varsity team, this team can bring this school a state championship in ladies basketball." Christa Henderson was named MVP. In the next to last game, the team beat Petersburg by a close 48-47 score. "This was the team's closest win," said Coach Dixon. Everybody played as a team and had an unselfish attitude. This was a season to remember for the JV girls basketball team. — Mark Antunes

Running Full Steam

Indoor Track

Brad Forehand focuses on his next pole vault. His efforts eventually earned him a trip to the State Meet.

The runners, all in a row, waited for the gun to go off. When it did, they all ran as fast as they could. Then, 400 meters later, it was all over. A season in just like a race; it seems to take forever, but it ends before you know it. Such was the story of the indoor track team. For many members, the season ended too soon. The indoor track team worked hard all season, but they did not see the end coming. The boy's team finished with a 3-3 record while the girls finished 2-4. Coach Rivera's season highlight occurred at the District Meet when "many individuals peaked in their event." Julie Weston set school records in the one and two mile. Tommy Fortmuller, Kelly Ruhf, Joey Gregory, and Justin Williamson combined to set a new school record in the 4X800 relay. Coach Rivera said, "There was no pressure on the team" and that team members had a nothing to lose attitude. He also said "This year was a growing season. We took our lumps but the future looks bright." Brad Forehand, Jasen McClellan, Julie Weston and Beth Harding were selected as All-District. Julie Weston was named most valuable. — Mark Antunes

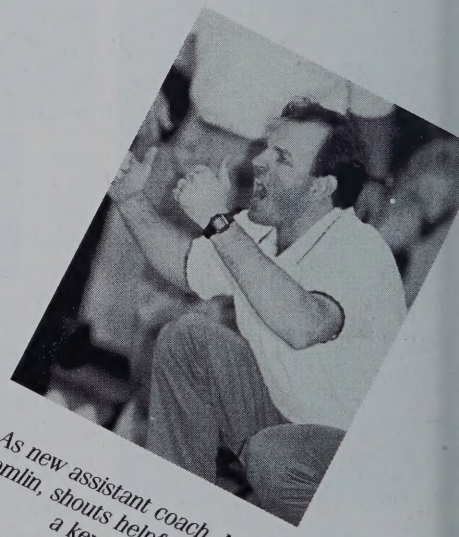
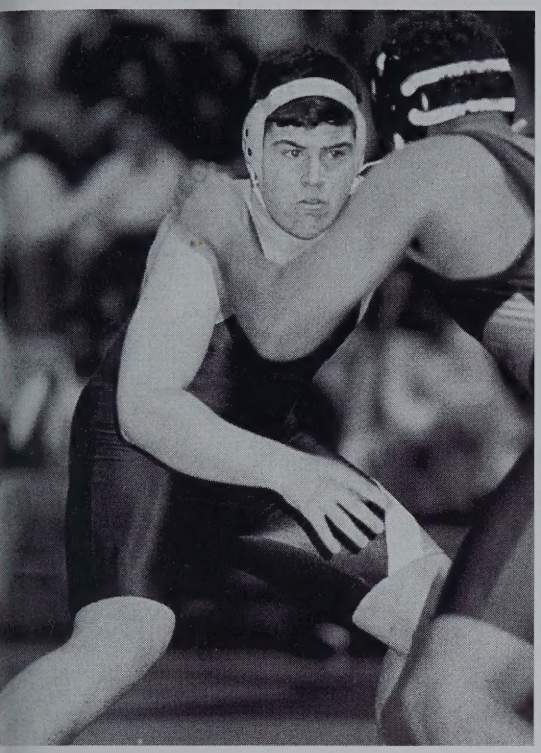
Anton Price, otherwise known as Grandpa Price, has helped coach for several years.

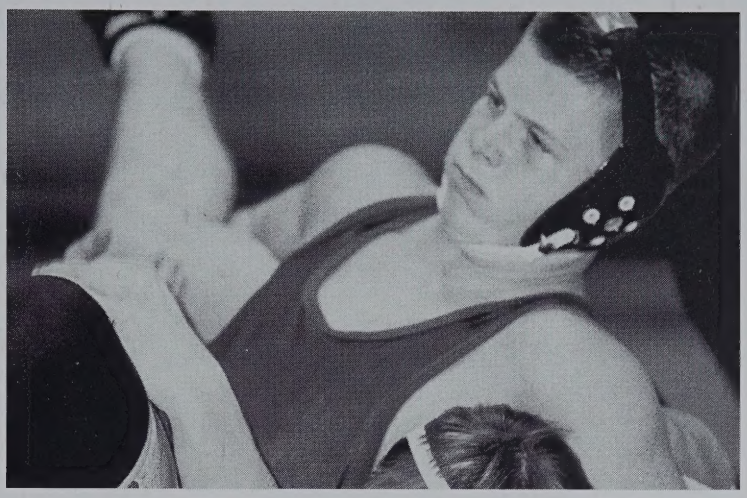
Head Coach, David Emory, helps Sean Wade relax before an important match. This was Emory's first year as head coach.



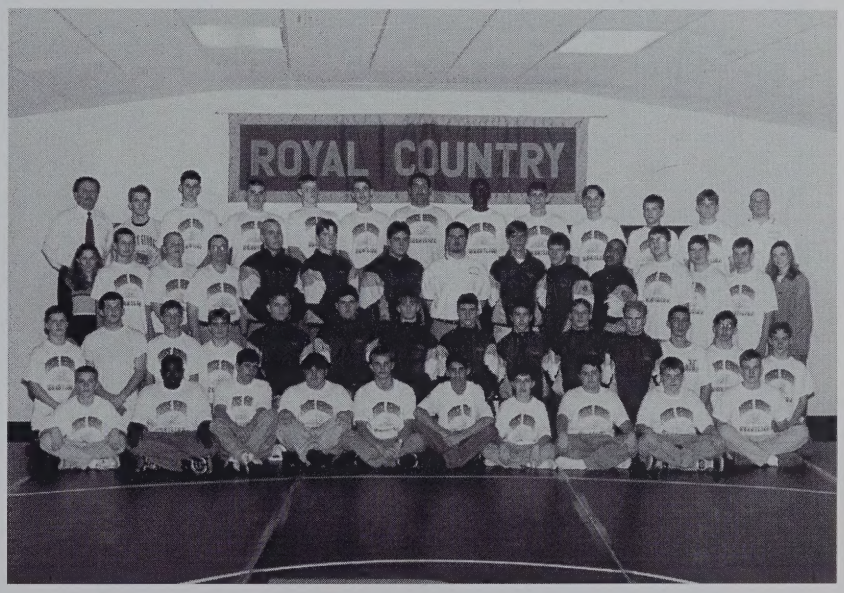
As new assistant coach, Mark Tomlin, shouts helpful advice in a key match.



Billy Tally concentrates as he works his setups to take down his Thomas Dale opponent.



Future talents can be seen in the Junior Varsity wrestlers. Jason Jordan works for a pin in this match against Thomas Dale.



Back Row: Coach Anton Price, Carl Cencewizki, David Pettick, Brandon Chester, Steven Curry, Chris Walters, Tony Nieves, Chris Fairley, Ernest Fritz, Ryan Hagaman, Britton Hughes, Scott Sexton, Coach Shay Osborne. With the loss of most starting varsity wrestlers from last year, as well as many changes in the coaching staff, the Rasslin' Royals continued a strong tradition of hardwork and conditioning. Coach Emory claims that "some of the matches that we won were because we were in better condition than the other team." The new coaches this year were David Emory as head coach, Mark Tomlin as assistant coach, and Shay Osborne as assistant coach. Also on the coaching staff was Anton Price, who has helped for many years. Throughout the season, graduated wrestlers from past years came to help. These included Reggie Edwards, Jonny and Benji Wood, Richie Bishop, Kyle McDaniel, Tom Brown, and many more.

Captains of the team were Andrew Webb, Ricky Mixell, and Danny Wood. Most valuable wrestlers consisted of Ricky Mixell who finished third in Districts and fourth in the Region; Josh Dykstra who won Districts and placed fifth in the Region; Sharar Byrd who won Districts last year as a freshman; and Cory Lawson. Ricky Mixell, a Junior, was the first underclassman to qualify for the State Tournament. When asked about the team's hardest win, Coach Emory said,"Our first win against Clover Hill, they were ranked fifth in the Region and it was my first match as Head Coach."

A weakness of the team was mental preparation before a match. The team had trouble focusing on the task at hand. There was a lot of young talent on the team with room for improvement. Few starters are graduating this year. - Danny Wood

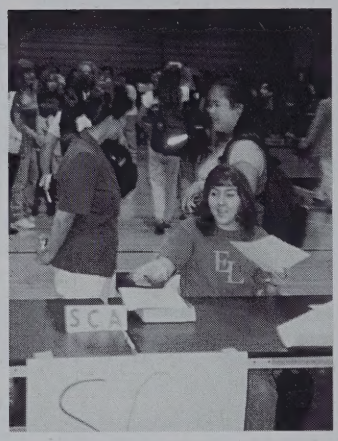
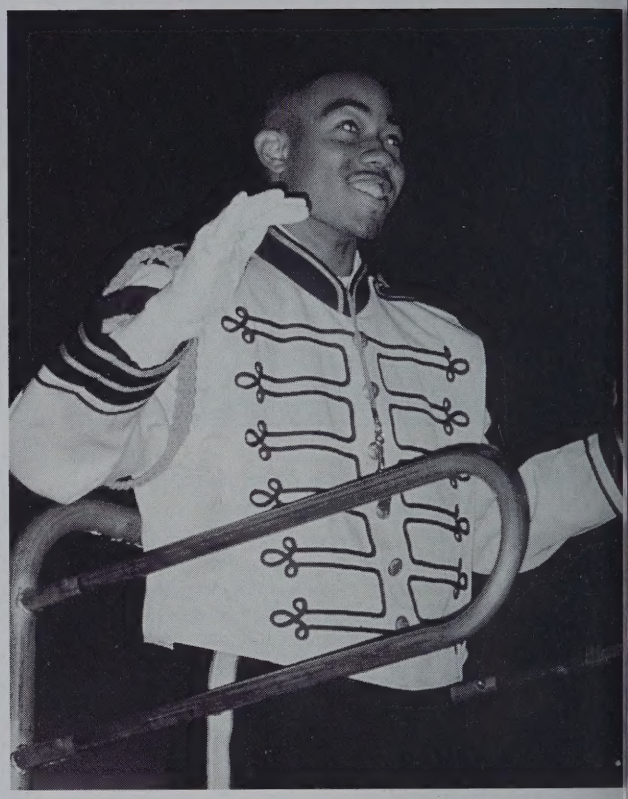
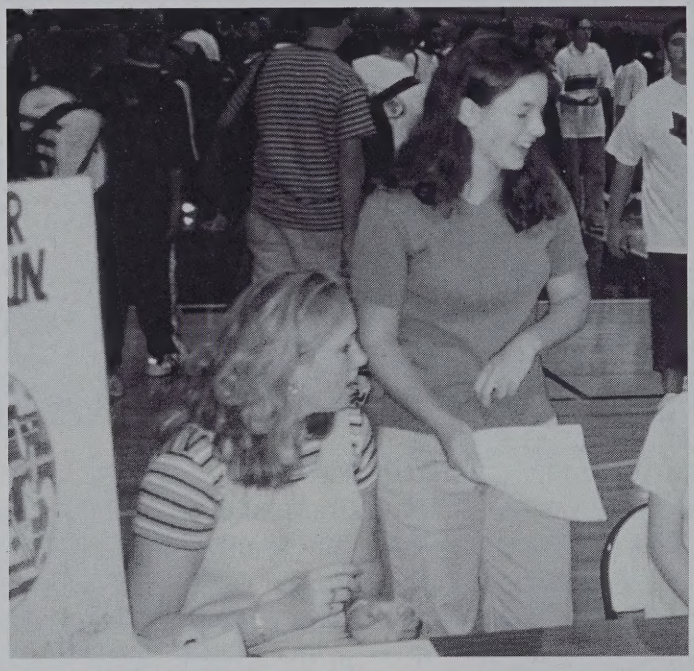
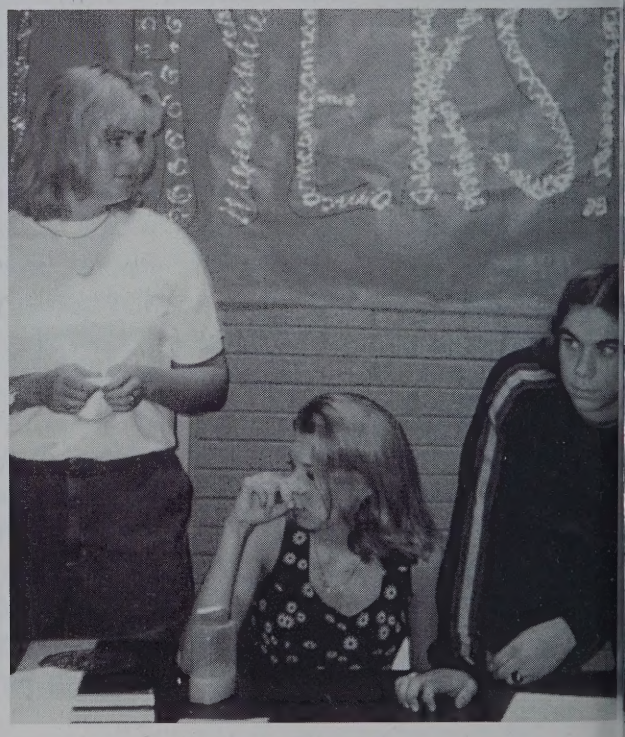
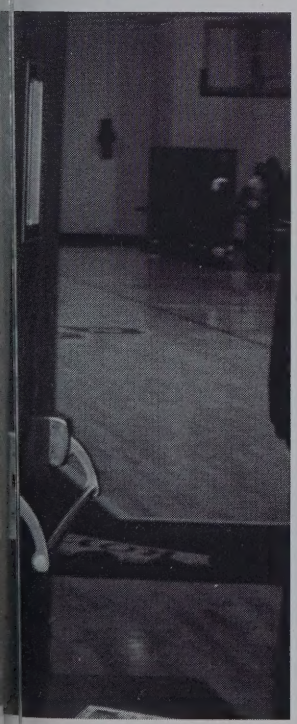
Organizations











Color coded cards are the newest trend for activity periods. Twenty-eight clubs meet during activity period. The clubs are classified by green, gold, and white cards. So to all those people who walked around the halls, you are not getting past the Commons doors without one of those cards. But really, twenty-eight clubs meet during school. That does not count the ones that meet after school. There was even an activity fair held to help promote the clubs. So if you are not involved there is really no excuse. Mandie Costley comments " Being a member in clubs not only gains new friendships but also looks good on college applications, so just get involved." — Kaylon Travers

Elected Officials

"And the results are in," is a traditional phrase heard each year on the announcements. The Student Council Association is the only club in the school that you have to be elected into by the student body. The S. C. A. is made up of class presidents, vice presidents, and senators. Mrs. Cosgrove was the sponsor and aided the group in such areas as the Big Brother/ Big Sister program. The S. C. A. planned Homecoming and it was a huge success.

The S. C. A. also sponsored The Nutcracker in December. The Chesterfield Ballet performed in a successful running of the show.

Every April new officers are elected. Ben Harvey, Ashley Johnson, and Meghan Stidham will all be replaced with other school spirited individuals. The S. C. A. was a great part of high school life. The club organized many things for students to participate in. "I enjoyed being a part of the S. C. A. and felt I really made a difference," stated Brent Young.-Jason Taylor

Students helped out by assisting anyone with questions and putting returned books in their proper place, no matter how overdue they were. When there was not much to do, students took VCRs to teachers, took advantage of the literature all around them, or did last night's homework. Credits were also given if the student really needed them. - Jason Taylor

Upward Bound

The school's academically oriented clubs have been busy. The local chapter of the National Honor Society helped elementary school teachers in the spring work with students. This club consists of members who have outstanding academic records, show leadership, are active in their community, and who had their applications accepted by a board of teachers.

Beta Club, a similar organization to the National Honor Society, tutored students every Wednesday after school and occasionally read to students at Harrison Elementary School. Members collected canned goods at Thanksgiving, sold candy, and adopted two families at Christmas. They also started a program in which members tutored students at Harrison Elementary School on Tuesdays.

Mu Alpha Theta, a type of math honor society, tutored students at Walton Elementary School and stuffed stockings to give to the Elf Helper's Organization. Candace Walker said, "I like being in these clubs because of the service projects we do."

These three clubs helped both students at Prince George schools and many other people in the community. Elizabeth Myers said, "We want to give back to the community that has done so much for us."-Mark Antunes

Spotlight on the Stars

FBLA

The Future Business Leaders of America provide opportunities for students who are in business classes. This club promotes leadership and personal responsibilites for active students.

FBLA attended many conferences such as: VSU Fall Regional Conference held at Virginia State University, Southern National Conference held in Virginia Beach, Spring Regional Conference held at Prince George High School, Virginia State Conference/Competitions held in Virginia Beach, and the members will also attend the National Conference in Orlando, Florida, over the summer. The members usually stay overnight in hotels and meet other students from different schools who are involved in FBLA.

Not only did FBLA members attend conferences, they also contributed a lot to the community and charities. They sold many items like candy and gift wrapping paper for the Great American Fund-raiser. FBLA raised funds from selling ghost and love grams in the commons area and donated all of it to Project ASK. FBLA was not only for the students but for teachers as well. In May, FBLA celebrated Teacher Appreciation Week. Throughout the year, FBLA sold donuts to earn some money to attend conferences.

A simple of summary of FBLA's year was better said by Desiree Pabon, "We worked together this school year to help farther FBLA. From the start, the officers had a lot to accomplish, and we felt we could take it on. We wanted one to remember, and wanted to feel like we've accomplished something at the end of the year and that our hard work and commitment paid off. With the help of all the members as well as the teachers, I feel we had a great year and hope that it will pass on to the upcoming years of FBLA." — Ronnie McCray

Doing Everything They Can To Increase Their Marketability

DECA

DECA is an association of marketing students which gave its participants an opportunity to experience life on the job. The club was designed to provide activities that helped motivate high school students interested in marketing, management, and entrepreneurship.

Sponsored by Mrs. Flory-Brockwell and Mrs. White, the club's roster was one of the high school's largest with 137 members. Patti Dunavant was DECA District Vice President for District 18 and Bianca Cobb was Virginia DECA State Officer and Eastern Area Representative.

One of DECA's major activities was attending the District, State, and National Competitions. On Virginia DECA Day in November, the club went bowling and had a pizza social. Also in November, they sponsored and held the TMH Ring Dance for the TMH students. During Thanksgiving Season, DECA's Biggest Turkey Contest helped raise money for the United Network of Organ Sharing. In December, they visited the Baptist Children's Home Orphanage to deliver gifts and had a party. Data Match was held for the student body during Valentines Day to see which students were compatible with another. At Burrowsville Primary School, the club helped the students open their own business selling bunny food for Easter. In the Spring, several members of DECA modeled some of the latest fashion trends of the 90's in the Fashion Show.

To help make these activities and conferences possible, they held fund raisers. Fundraising included selling Otis Spunkmeyer Cookies, Chocolate and Bath Accessories with the Great American Opportunities Company, citrus, and azaleas. In addition, DECA ran the Bookstore to help raise money for the programs.

Perhaps one of the most important clubs, DECA is a vital part of what makes our school great. When asked why he liked DECA, Lawrence Sprader responded, "It was a great opportunity for me to learn the importance of what makes a business what it is. We learned how a business works and how it can make a difference within the communities. I also had the chance to meet with others who shared my views of the business world and how we as individuals can learn how to build our own businesses and make an even greater difference in the future." - Chris Sprader

"To be or not to be. . ."

— Hamlet

"We the people, in order to form a more perfect dramatic society, establish auditions for plays, help make and obtain props and costumes for performances, sponsor performances, be true to the needs of our members, elect officials appropriate to the offices, promote the general dramatic welfare of actors, actresses and technicians, and secure the goals of this organization, do ordain and establish this constitution of the Prince George Players of Prince George High School."

This is the preamble to the constitution of the P.G. Players. The goals of the club members are to first educate and inform members of our school and show the importance of the expressions of Drama and Theatre in our community. Second, the club would like to entertain interested theatergoers. Entertaining theatergoers in our community was accomplished because the club members worked together with the sponsor, Mz. Bishop, as an ensemble to produce shows throughout the year.- Cindy Shelton

Since the beginning of school, the choir has had a busy schedule. In November, the choir traveled to L.C. Bird High School for the All-District Chorus Auditions. The students had to sing individually for two judges.

The Christmas Season was a big time for choir. They sang for the Christmas Tree Lighting at the Prince George Court House. A select group performed at the Retired Teachers' Meeting in Blackstone. For the first time, choir and band worked together to perform the 'Christmas Song' at the Annual Christmas Concert. "This was a first attempt at such an endeavor. It was lovely!" says the sponsor, Mrs. Vickie Elliott. The choir also held performances at the Fort Lee Food Court and for the High School Day Performance here at the high school.

A fund raiser was held in January to raise money to participate in the Kings Dominion Choral Festival, which was held in May. Again, the choir received superior ratings at this festival.

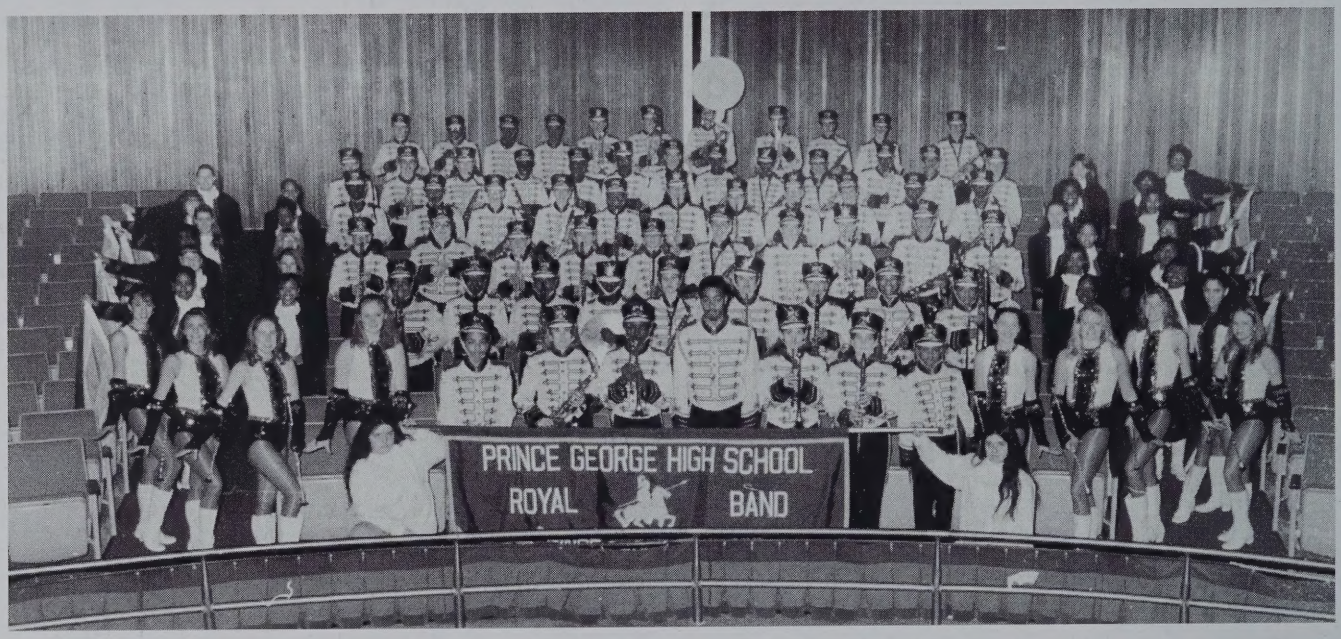
In February, the following students were selected to participate in the All-District Chorus Event, held at James River High School: Isaac Thweatt, Pedro Miguel Rosas, Omar Derr, Michael Piner, Michael Brunson, Frank Takacs, Jamela Bullock, Grisel Perez, Tia Mason-Bey, Maurice May, Marcus Jones, and Jemarcus Jones. The students sang in a mass chorus of 200 students from over forty District III Schools.

The District III Choral Festival was held in March, which choir attended. Choir also sang their hearts out at the Fine Arts Festival held in the school. For the rest of the Spring Season, choir gave concerts at surrounding schools in the area.

Mrs. Elliot was very excited to have twenty-five males in the choir. There was good balance and blend among the vocal sections. Choir met every day between first and third period. Its roster included 88 members, approximately. - Chris Sprader

Change Is Up In The Air

The Marching Royals & The Royal Concert Band



The Prince George Marching Royals

The concert band in action. This group performed on Veteran's Day at the courthouse and for the entire school at Christmas.

With the new school year along came a big surprise. After many hard, dedicated years as band director, Mr. John Gallup was retiring and Mr. Ron Cahoon was going to start teaching at the middle schools only. This was a shock to most people, after spending the whole summer training with them. Who would the new director be, and would he be any fun?

This question was shortly answered the last practice of the summer when we arrived to see our new director, Mr. Stephen Raybould, and boy, it's been some fun!

The band participated in half-time and pre-game shows at all football games. No matter what the weather, they were there. The band traveled to Blacksburg, VA to participate in "Band Day" at Virginia Tech. In October, the band went to VBODA field competition in Charlottesville where the Majorettes and Color Guard received medals. They attended Colonial Heights, Prince George, Petersburg, and Hopewell parades. They also had a sectional olympics here at school. In May, they traveled to Kings Dominion to compete in marching band, concert band, and jazz band competitions.

As Mr. Raybould reflects on his first year here, he comments,"My goal for this year was to strive to be bigger and better each day. Did we succeed? Marching Band, Concert Band, Pep band, Jazz Band.... it's been an incredible year!"-Kaylon Travers

Warm-ups are a very imporatant part to how well the show appears. Here the clarinets are practicing for a pregame show.

Robert Hillborn and Larae Steffan show their special talents at a football game. Many members performed solos during the football season.

...And here are the marching royals!! The field show was a major part of the year which we took to Virginia tech and Charlottesville.

"As I was saying..." Kaylon Travers and April Ramsey continue their conversation. After their performance the band played in the stands and the Color Guard and some Majorettes danced.

In June of 1997, the majorettes and color guard started practicing for what was one of their most productive years ever. The majorettes led by coach Erena Lynch and the Color Guard led by coach Tonya Humhrey showed the crowd this year that they were a force to be reckoned with. Each halftime and pre-game show was just one example of how much talent these squads possessed.

To the spectators astonishment; majorettes Ryan Hodges, Tiffany Budd, Emily Armishaw, Kaylon Travers and Ashley King twirled fire batons at a lot of home and away games. The majorettes also won the sectional olympics and were treated to a pizza party. They also participated in "band day" at Virginia Tech, where they, along with the color guard received medals and came home winners. Coach Lynch stated that "I really enjoyed my first year as the coach for the majorettes. Each member contributed individual talent and spirit to make the group performances a success."

The color guard had an unequivocal effect on the field show. They had a wonderful year marching in the parades, also. The changes they underwent were not only in leadership, but the size of the squad was almost doubled. April Toney a member of the color guard commented "Besides the go-go boots and those "cute uniforms," the people on color guard make P.G. stand out from all color guards!"

Although the majorettes and color guard are immensely different, each squad's talents brightened the show and together they made it a wonderful attraction. - Kaylon Travers

The three seniors Ryan Hodges, Emily Armishaw, and Tiffany Budd show they have still got what it takes as they practice before the first football game.

Making A Personal Statement

What do Etcetera, Ye Royal Scribe, Young Author's and Forensics have in common? Each provided an outlet for its members to express their creative ideas. Through writing, interpretation, and presentation, the students involved with these clubs found a way to show their originality.

Etcetera, the school's literary magazine, was composed of Ms. Carwile's Honors English class. They collected writing submitted by the student body and chose the best entries to be published. Students were able to write what they chose, from poems about real life to prose about myths. The hard work of the Etcetera staff and the writers in the student body paid off in April when the magazine was finally printed.

Ye Royal Scribe was part of the English 11/Journalism class taught by Mrs. Merrix. The students in the class published the school newspaper. The staff brainstormed story topics and then did research. They used the news stories to help depict their creative writing abilities.

Members of the Young Author's Club, led by Ms. Alley, showed extreme inventiveness. Not only did they write their stories, they also illustrated them. The finished products were entered in contests. Some members participated in seminars to further their abilities. One member even read her poetry for audiences.

Forensics was a little different for th other clubs. Under the leadership of Mr Havard, members of forensics par ticipated in public speaking. Choosin from an array of categories, member presented a topic before judges. Som did dramatic interpretation of stories while others gave impromptu speeche about given topics.

Whether it was through writing o speaking, these clubs provided a way fo members to express their ideas Through the use of creativity, student could share feelings and thoughts an had fun doing so.-Stephanie Hughes

Total and Complete Devotion

What is dedication? Dedication for athletes meant being at practice, working hard, and always giving 110%. There were two outstanding clubs that recognized and supported student athletes; Varsity Club and FCA.

The Varsity Club was one of the largest and most popular clubs in school. It was composed of about 90 club members. The athletes included were from a variety of sports, from baseball and cheerleading to tennis and football. Jerren Lightfoot, DeShaun James, and Jenny Ludwig led the pack as club officers. The Varsity Club sponsored the reception after the Fall Sports Award Ceremony, sold Royal Football t-shirts, and generally represented the prominent athletes at the school.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes represented the religious side to the school's athletes. Officers were Captain April Myrick, and Co-captain Kim Spain. FCA had an outstanding 50 members. The club participated in the Christmas parade on December 6 where they designed and decorated a float. They also supported a needy Christmas family.

Whatever you play, basketball, soccer, or volleyball, there is always room for more in both the Varsity Club and FCA.- Mandie Costley

"What does the yearbook mean to you? It probably means looking back through the book to count how many times you are in it. Maybe it means laughing at a friend for blinking during a club picture. No matter what the yearbook means to you, you look to the yearbook staff to produce a great book that you can keep forever. To the Peerage staff, the yearbook means team work, dedication and hard work, deadlines, and sales.

Starting off the year with a new sponsor, Miss Heath, and only two staff members and Ms. Greene, another sponsor, with any yearbook knowledge, no one outside of the class expected much of a yearbook. Our lack of experience was looked at negatively. To us though, this was not bad. We used it to our advantage. Miss Heath and the staff learned the ropes together, with the help of our editors, Ms. Greene, and a great publishing representative. We taught each other a thing or two as we unscrambled the mysteries of putting together a yearbook. Above all, the most important lessons we learned were about how to work by a schedule and how to work together.

Teamwork proved to be a crucial asset to the Peerage staff. We learned that no one's work was finished, until everyone's work was finished. No one ever had to work alone. 'Caption Boy' Chris Sprader was always there to help if someone was stumped on a caption. Cindy Shelton, Shandale Hall's 'secretary', was there to do odds and ends. Other people helped get spreads into the computer and make necessary corrections and changes. We learned that none of us could single-handedly finish a spread. It took a team effort to get the job done.

Hard work and dedication were also essentials. Though it was not always easy to write copy or design lay-outs, we had to keep our eyes on the goal. Sometimes, we had to make sacrifices to get the story or picture that was needed for a spread. We all understood though that this was part of our job and it was a job we were proud to be a part of. It was our devotion to this job that kept us at school late into the evening on several occasions.

Deadlines also played a huge role in keeping us after school. Though they caused a lot of stress, we strived to meet each deadline so that the student body could receive their copies of the yearbook early. We always had lots of food on deadline days to keep us going. Deadlines were very tough and extremely busy but we all supported each other and worked together. That was usually enough to get the job done.

Sales were also a hassle. Even though w dreaded them, we knew how important th were. Everyone was required to sell at lea $450 worth of ads. Without the ad sales, t cost for the yearbook to the students wou have been outrageous. Convincing busine owners to buy ads in a high school yearbo was not always easy but a friendly smile oft did the trick. Selling books to the stude body was trouble, too. Some of us gave u our lunch time to help sell. Ms. Greene ha the tough job though. She had to count th money that we made and keep track of ho much we had, how much was needed, an who to bill.

The year may have started off a little rock but we worked together to clear a path for good year. We quickly realized the impo tance of our job and strived to produce a excellent yearbook that our school would b proud of. We used friendship and devotion the task we were given to keep us motivate until the end."-Stephanie Hughes

Working on the yearbook is a first time thing f Miss Heath. Having students like Danny Wood a Kaylon Travers by her side helped to make her jo little easier.

The Staff

Yearbook is tough for some of the st leaving them needing a vacation after e deadline. In Melissa Bowne's case, a qu rest on the street was enough to get engines running again.

The Club

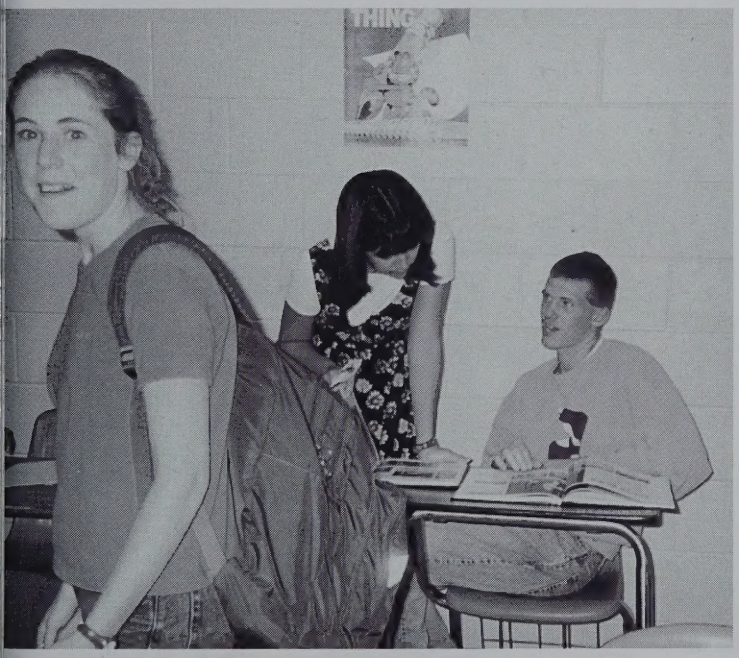
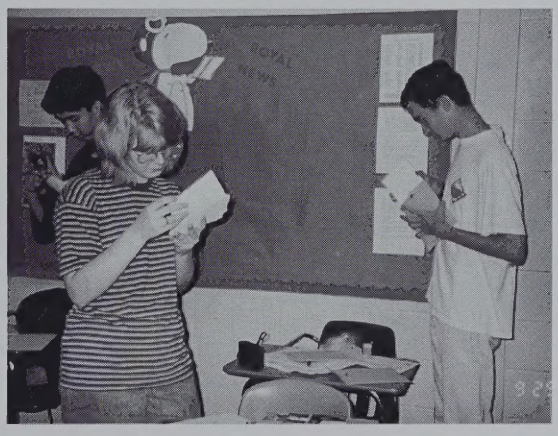
For Ronnie McCray, it was arms like these that helped to pull off a wonderful yearbook.





A yearbook not only must have good copy, but good pictures as well. Chris Sprader, Stephanie Hughes, and Mark Antunes searched every file and folder for just the right shots.

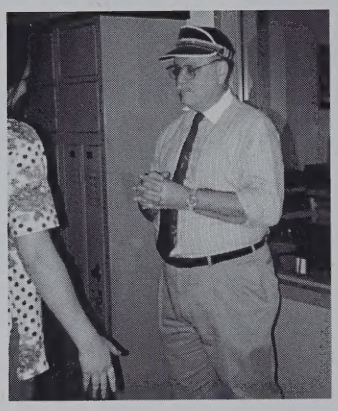
In Yearbook, it is important to have fun while you work. Shandale Hall had no problem doing this on club picture day.

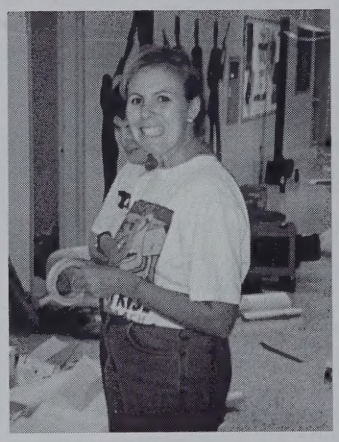
Yearbook is not only a great place to work on publication skills, but friendship skills as well. Mandie Costley and Cindy Shelton took a moment from their busy schedules to show how friends worked together within the staff.

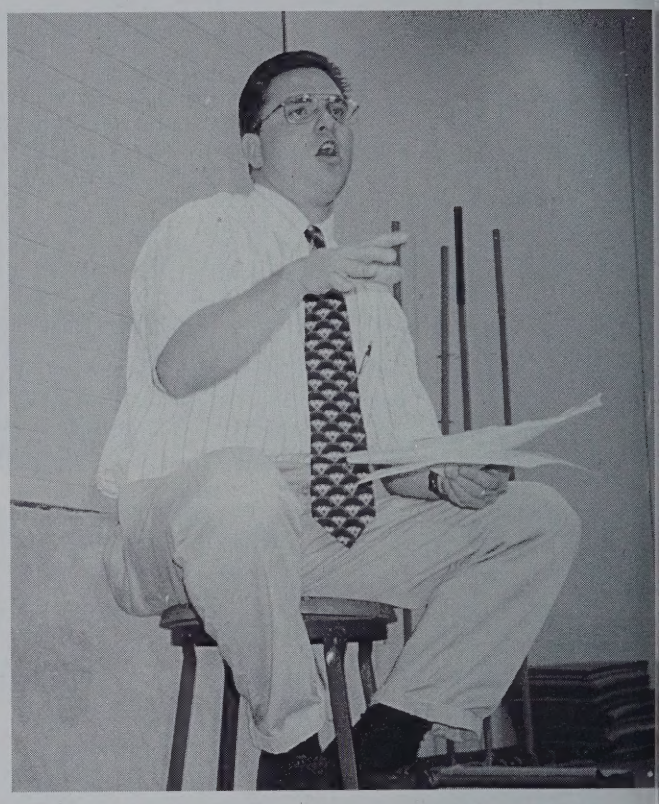
Putting the yearbook together takes long hours and great dedication. John Brown, Angie Bennett, and Jason Taylor spent their evening hours putting the finishing touches on a spread.

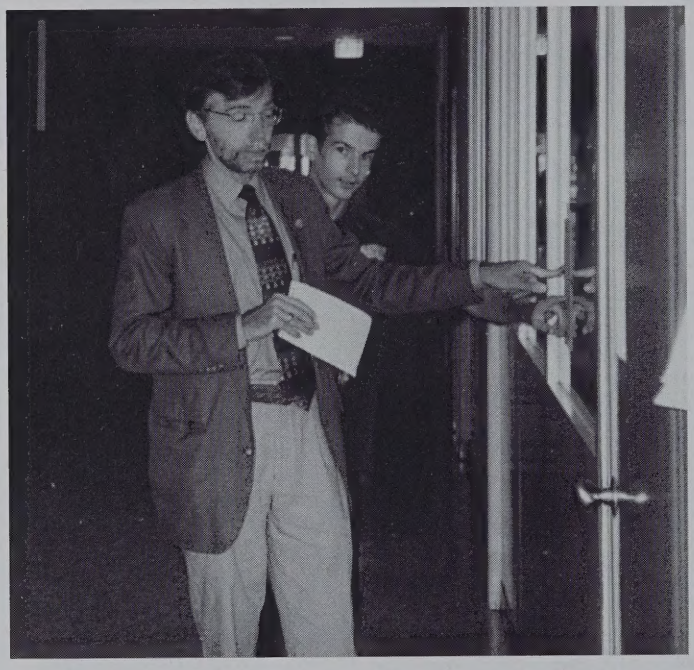
Close Encounters

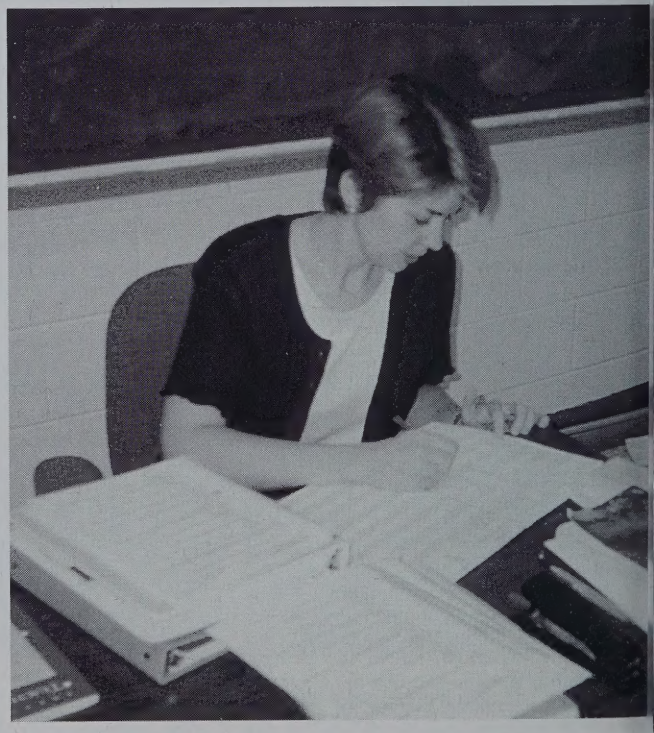
Academics

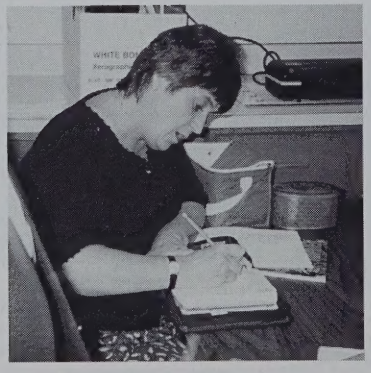


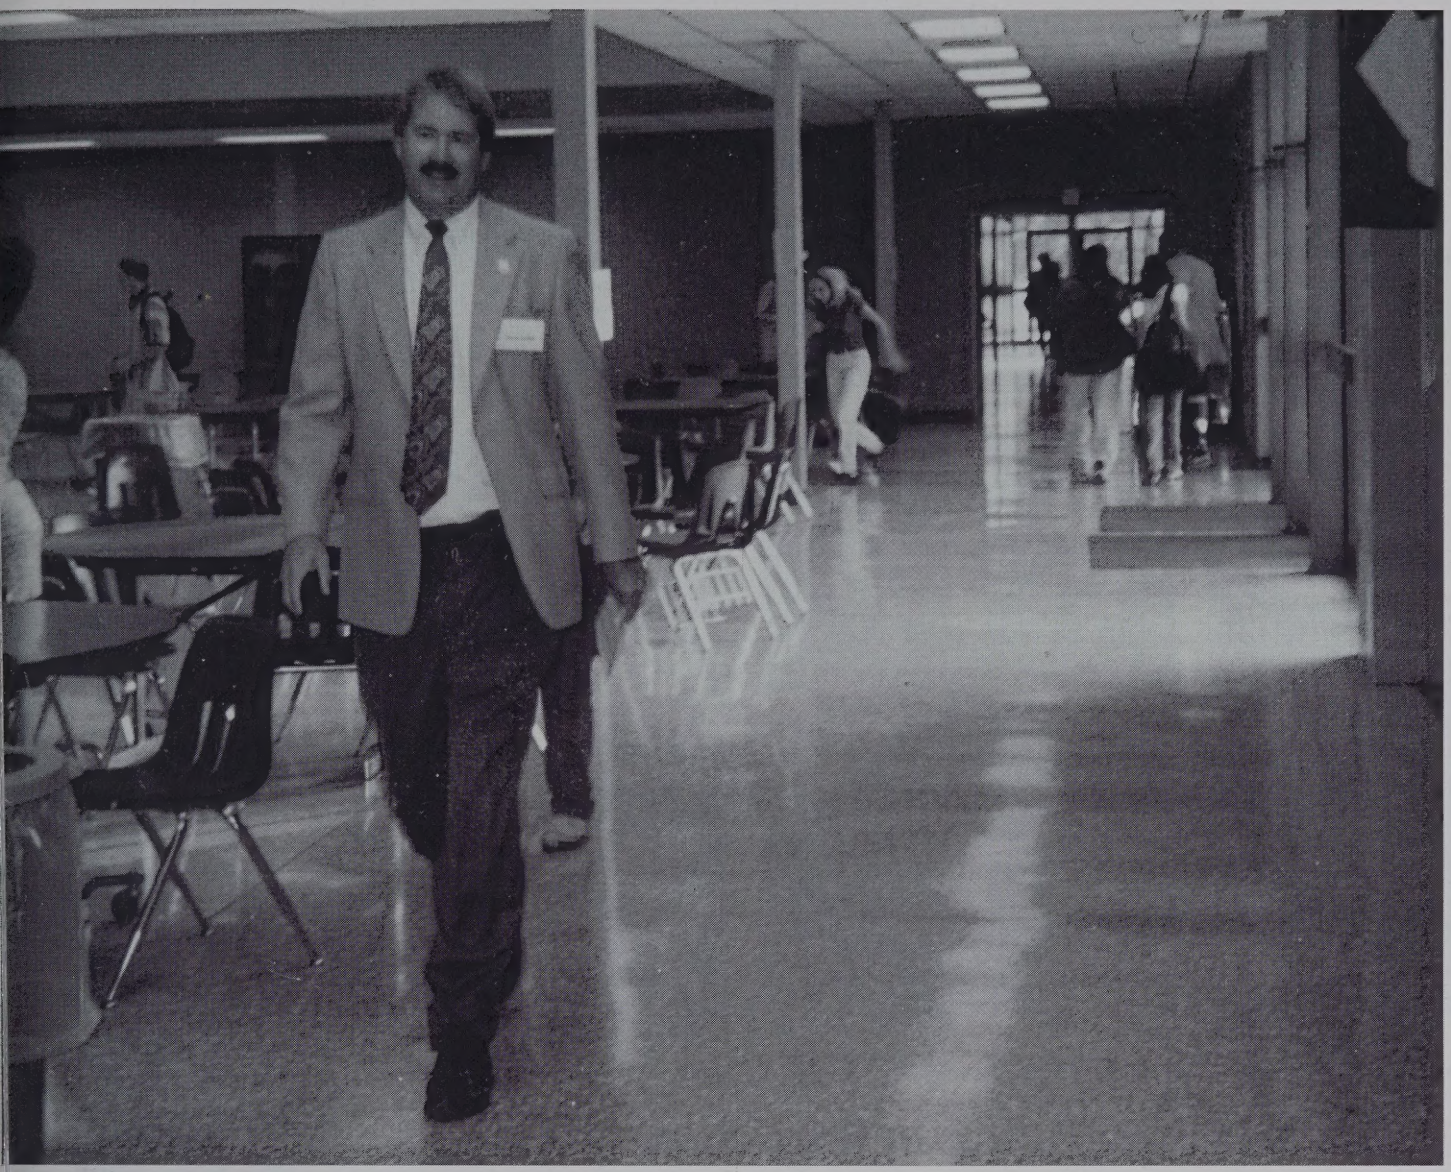


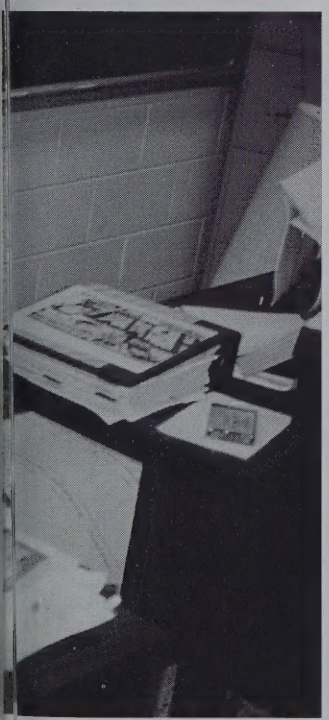












"A teacher effects eternity, he can never tell where his influence will stop,"stated Henry Brooks Adams. The teachers are here to provide directon that will influence people for the rest of their lives. The inspiration does not always have to come from a teacher; a coach, guidance worker, or administrator may enlighten the student.

The knowledge that is bequethed to any students is considered to be knowledge for life. A teacher can help a student strive for his personal best by providing an encouraging word when needed. H.L. Mencken stated that, "School days, I believe, are the unhappiest in the whole span of human existence. They are full of dull, unintelligible tasks, new and unpleasant ordinances, brutal violations of common sense and common decency." The teachers help alleviate this thought and make this untrue for many students.

The office is the "brain" of our school. Without them there would be chaos. There are mixed emotions about going to the office. In times of need they are there with a ready shoulder to cry on, but after a fight or the like, it is a dreaded place to be. We often do not acknowledge the help they give us.

The most popular room in the building is located in the office, the clinic. This room is always brimming with people seeking refuge from the everyday hassles of school. And let us not forget that dreaded feeling when you hear your name called to the office. All the way there is a guessing game of who wants to see me? What's it about? What did I do this time? So, let's not forget these caped crusaders in their fight to better our school, after all, they will be here long after we are gone.-Melissa Bowne

Is the pen mightier than the sword. . . ? In her English class, Mrs. Alley teaches Lekema Bullock that it is indeed.

Double double toil and trouble. Ms Bradley and Mz Bishop discuss their concerns about education. Ms. Bradley stated, "I am a little worried because with the advent of all the technological advancements of the 90's reading as a skill has gone down hill. Students miss out on so much on the pages of a book if they don't indulge themselves."

Mrs. Bradshaw, a very talented teacher of both Spanish and France, is teaching her students colors and articles of clothing. Here she proved to her students that styles of clothing are similar all over the world.

The vernacular, a.k.a., the language of the people. What exactly is the language of the people; is it Spanish, French, English, German? The concepts of all these languages began for all of us in the classroom. In this class, Language Arts, Literature, English, which ever you choose, we have learned how to conjugate verbs, identify nouns, adjectives and adverbs, analyze poems, and discover elements of short stories, novels and plays. These are Mrs. Marchioli-Acra's inspiring words on literature, "Literature is important because it reflects the history, culture, and life of people." Mrs. Merrix stated that "The world is a beautiful book, but of little use to him who cannot read it."

So now you can read it, write it, comprehend it. . . but could you understand it if itwere in a different language? Once we have grasped the 'English' language most of us have moved onto Spanish, French, or German. All of the skills we have mastered in English haunt us again in any language we choose to study. The spoken word is the main form of communication all over the world. We must first understand how to use the words in a structured manner then move on to applying our grasp of the language to help us understand life. -Cindy Shelton

What do Science and Social Studies have in common? You probably think they have no relation at all, but they do. They go hand in hand to teach us about our ancestors, our peers, and the next generation.

The Science Department does its best to make sure all students leave high school with the knowledge it takes to lead our generation to new discoveries, tests, and cures. Through labs, field trips, and class discussions, our science department could quite possibly turn out the next generation of top notch doctors and engineers.

The Social Studies Department was another important part of turning out the next generation. Skits, projects, mock elections, and many grueling essays help contribute to the future population of politicians,lawyers, and perhaps, even a future president.

Needless to say, Science and Social Studies are an important part of high school. So if you plan to go into a field of Science or Social Studies, you might want to wake up, pay attention, listen to your teacher, and you're sure to go far. -Mandie Costley

Business and Math

— "At a time when the State Board of Education is demanding an increased load of academic courses, and employees and colleges are also demanding higher levels of technical and computer skills, the Business Dept. helps students accomplish both. A sequence of courses can be arranged to meet expanded academic reguirements, add technical skills, and meet college requirements," a totally true statement said by Mrs. Hedgepeth. Business classses consist of Accounting I-II taught by Mrs. Taylor, Adavnced Computer Information Systems (CIS) taught by Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. White, Mrs. Hedgepeth, and Mrs. Springfield, Keyboarding Applications taught by Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Nichols, Marketing taught by Ms. Flory-Brockwell, Notetaking and WECEP taught by Ms. Bartly. Each and every one of these classes help students in the near and distant future.

The Business Dept. does not just help students train for the future. Not only the Business Dept. help students train for the future. When you associate with business, somewhere down the line MATH is involved. Better said by Mr. Darby, "The Math Dept. is unique and valuable." For a college preparatory diploma students must take Algebra I, Geometry, and Algebra II. Students can develop and advance their mathematical skills by taking Calculus and Math Analysis after Algebra II. Math 9 is also provided for Freshmen. Both of the departments combined together assist and prepare students for college and help them gain job experience. - Ronnie McCray

New to teaching, Mr. Crawford explains the functions and operating instructions of the printing press.

What do Special Education, Physcal Education, Fine Arts, and Vocational Teachers have in common? Nothing! The classes these teachers taught were not in the schedules of every student, but the students who were enrolled in these classes will remember more than school lessons, they remember life lessons. Aaron Lewis recalled Mr. Walker's favorite saying, "A-one Top notch." Mr. Crawford received a warm welcome to the school this year. "Of all the new teachers, Mr. Crawford became known the fastest," replied Wyatt Horner.-Jason Taylor

Keeping up with the Students

Cafeteria Workers

With a student body larger than any other in Prince George history, custodians, aides, cafeteria workers and security guards had their hands full. Custodian Catherine Jones said, "We get the job done" in one of her rare breaks. In spite of the increased student population, security guard Ms. Scott said, "School's really gone well this year."

For the first time, the school had a computer lab. While there, students could do research for projects on the internet. Kathy Petik said, "I assist students and teachers in locating information on the internet. I also have students coming in for individualized help on the internet." Even though students may not have seen these people every day, the custodians, aides, security guards and cafeteria workers play an important role in helping the school keep up with the students.

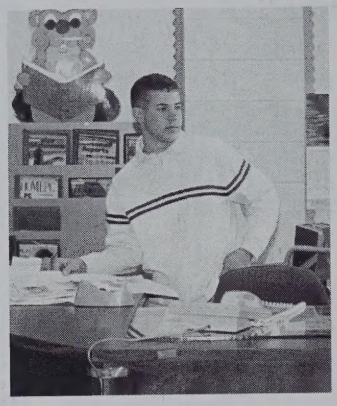
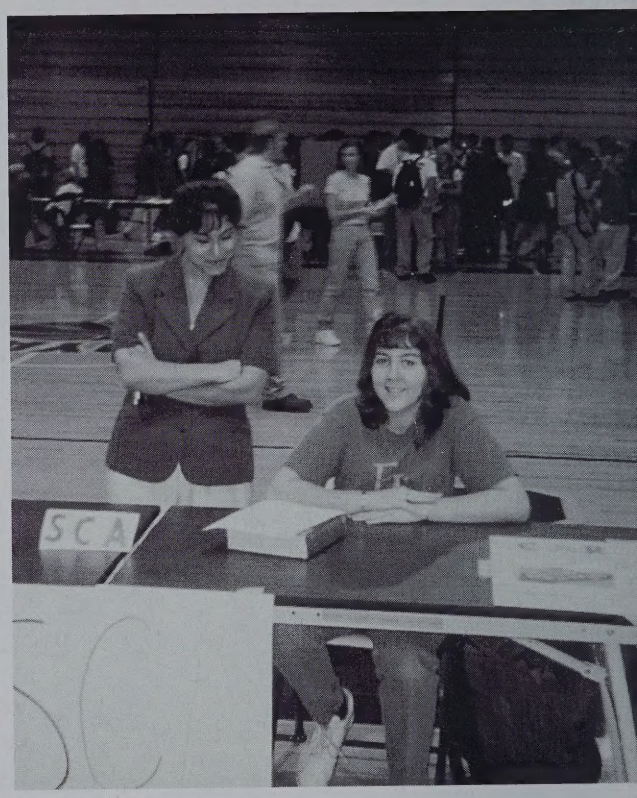
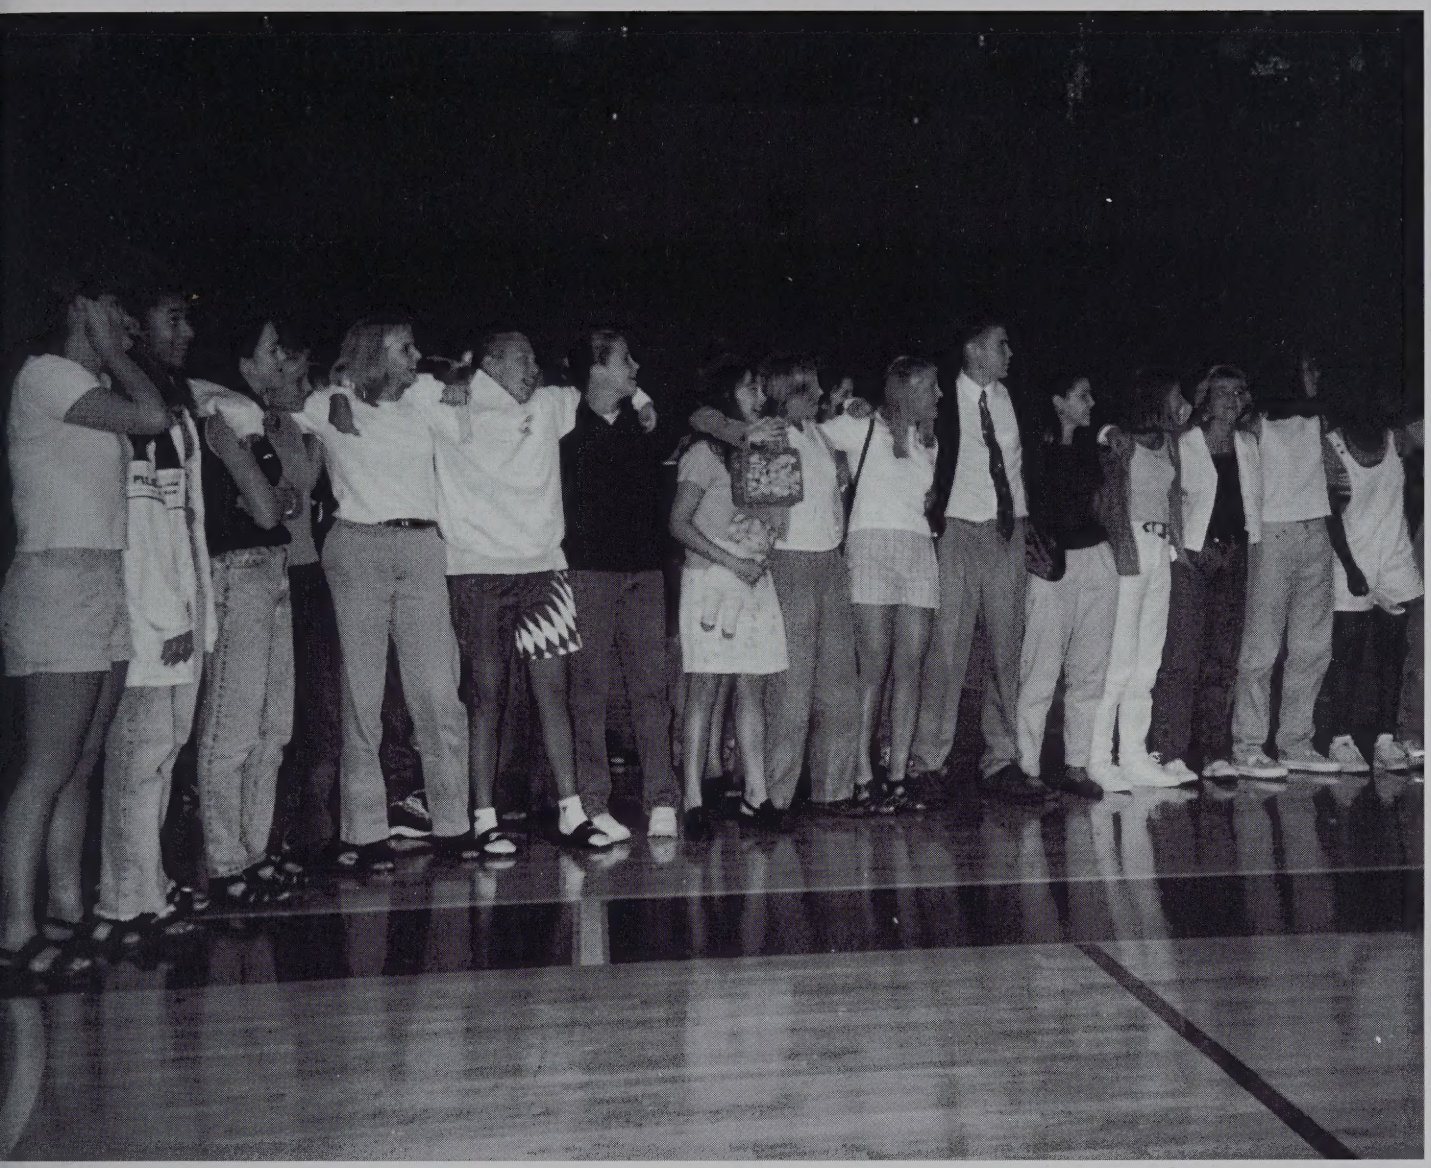
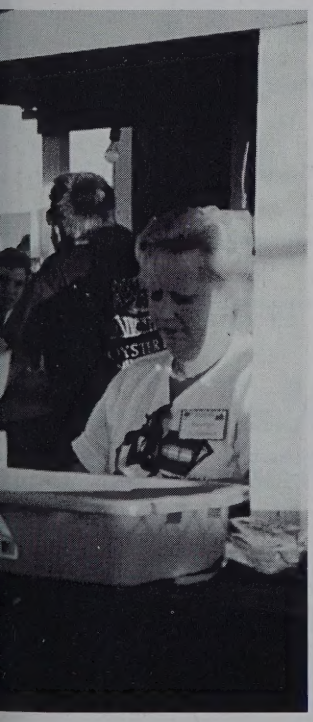
Building Up Support

Ads/Index









Well, you have made it to the end of the yearbook. So, how many times were you in it? Were there any good pictures of you and your friends? What did you think of the book?

The production of this yearbook would not have been possible without the support from our community. Business from around our area supported our school by purchasing ads for this yearbook. Community involvement is an essential element when it comes to supporting our school. A special thanks goes out to the area business for providing us with job, supporting our area school and especially for supporting this yearbook by purchasing ads.

When You Think Of Us, Think Personal Customer Service.

At Prince George Electric Cooperative, our only purpose is to serve our customer: you.

That's because as a customer, you're also an owner of the utility that provides your electricity. With some utilities, the customer's concerns might be different from the stockholder's concerns, but at Prince George, they are one in the same. So personal customer service comes naturally to your electric cooperative. Our employees are members of the local community and committed to serving the needs of our customers. We strive to give you the best possible service while maintaining reasonable electric rates. At Prince George Electric Cooperative you will receive personal attention from a utility that is still concerned with personal service to its member/owners. A phone call to the co-op office is all it takes to get answers. It's that simple, and that's the co-op difference. For more information, call us at 834-2424 or write us at P.O. Box 168, Waverly, Va. 23890-0168.

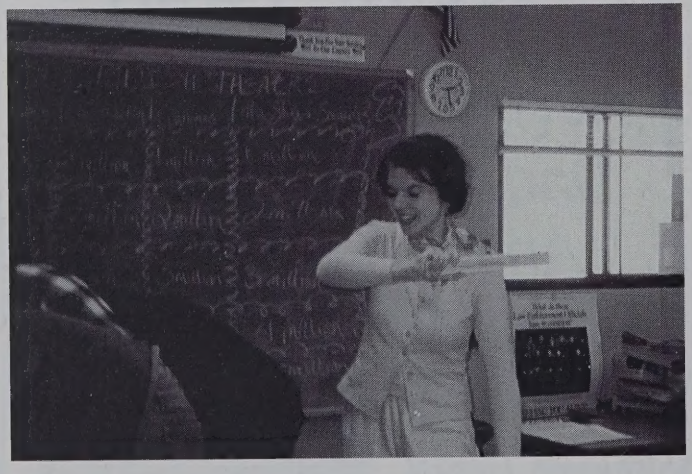
Caught In The Act

Have you ever wondered how your teachers act after school and the kind of stuff they do when students are not around? Almost every student probably had this in their head at one time or another. Teachers have a tendency to act sweet and calm around students except on occasion when the students act up, but any other time they remain nonchalant and friendly. Teachers are like super heroes. The school is their city or town that they serve and protect, and students are the average day citizens which don't know what's going on. Like super heroes in a comic book, teachers have an second identity as well and the students really don't know how they are. Well, we finally caught these caped crusaders and revealed how they really act. -Ronnie McCray



Most people throw vegetables if a performance is bad. Mz. Stephanie Bishop's students on the otherhand, express their own opinions their own unique way.

What do you think the teachers do?

"I think that teachers all gather together and play little elementary games around the school on teacher's workday."

—Marcus Nickelson

"I think that teachers go home and play with all those little toys that they take from their students for disturbing class."

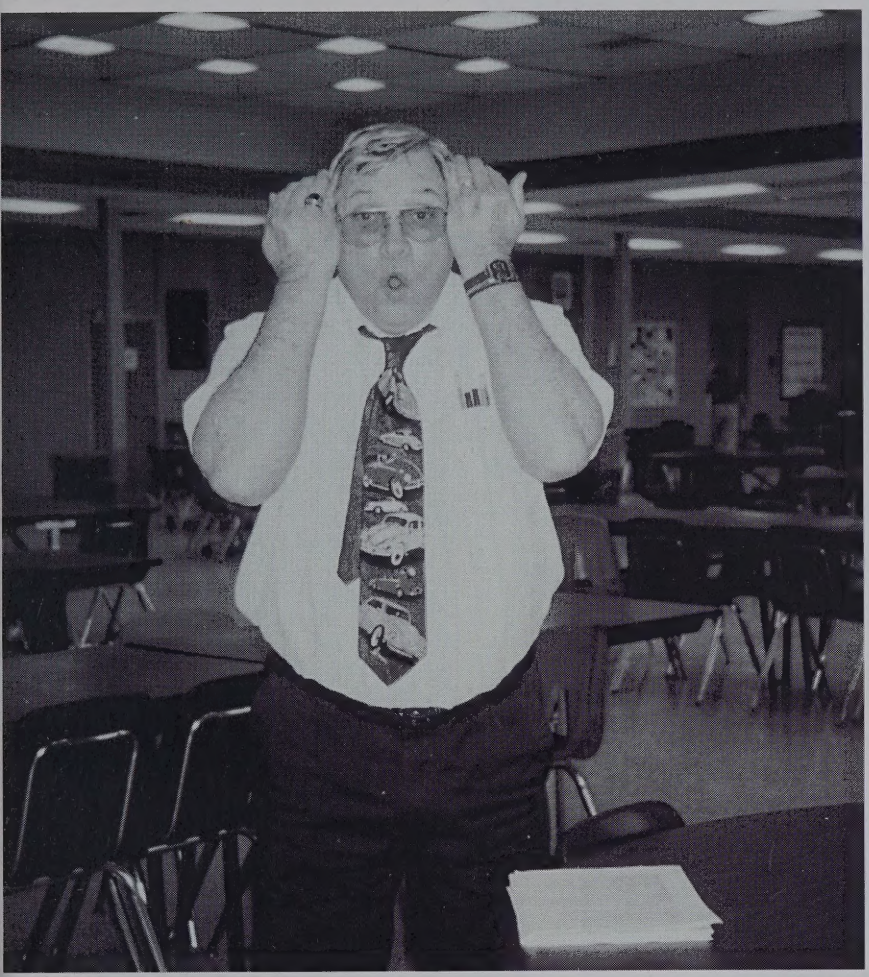
—Manus Ross

"I believe that some teachers with an afternoon planning period turn on the television and catch up on a soap opera or Jerry Springer."

—Bianca Cobb

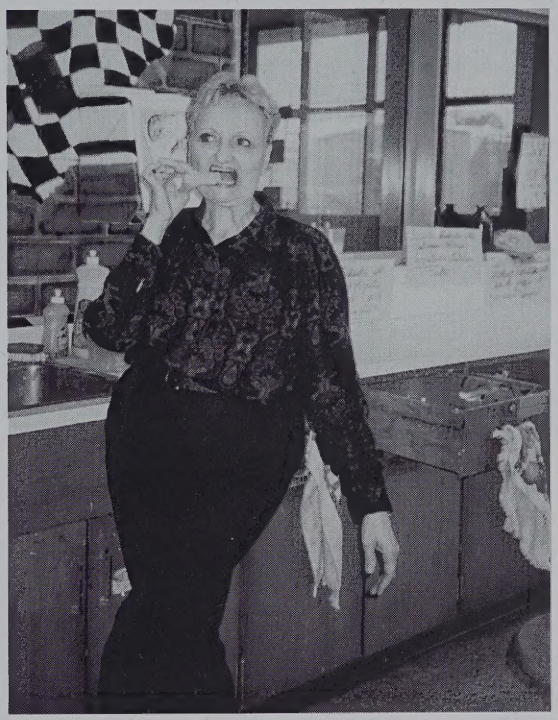
"Teachers probably joke on how stupid their students act in a classroom."

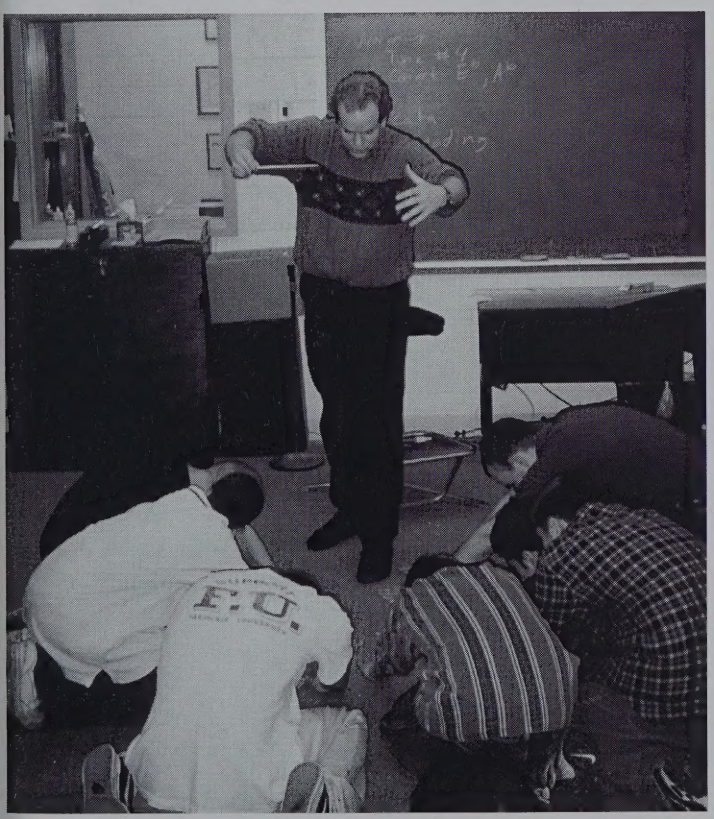
—Jamela Bullock

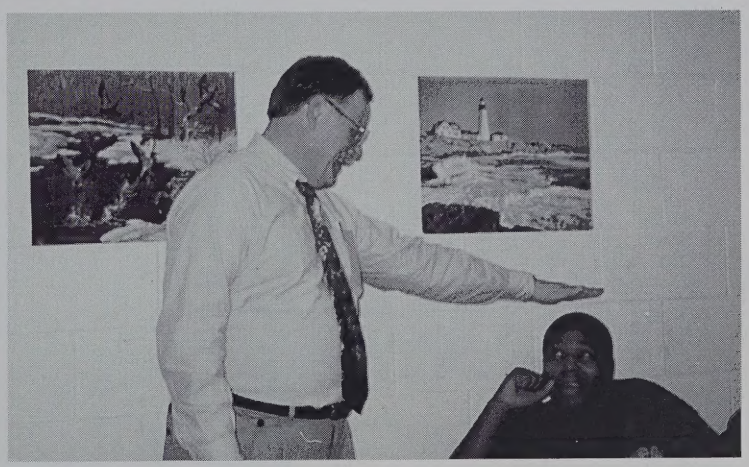


Coach Cary Parker's new dance may be the thing, but that tie has just got to go.

"That's funny, I thought cheese would be softer." Mrs. Marcia Chairky may be an art teacher, but food tasting is not her art.







"As long as I have been here, I at least expected my students to be this tall by now." It's Mr. Tom Lesniak's humor and way of teaching that his students look up to.

"Bow down before me, oh lovers of music, and give praise to me!" In Greek Mythology, Apollo was the God of music. Like the Greeks, Mr. Steve Raybould's students pay heed to their "God of music."

Up Close and In Love

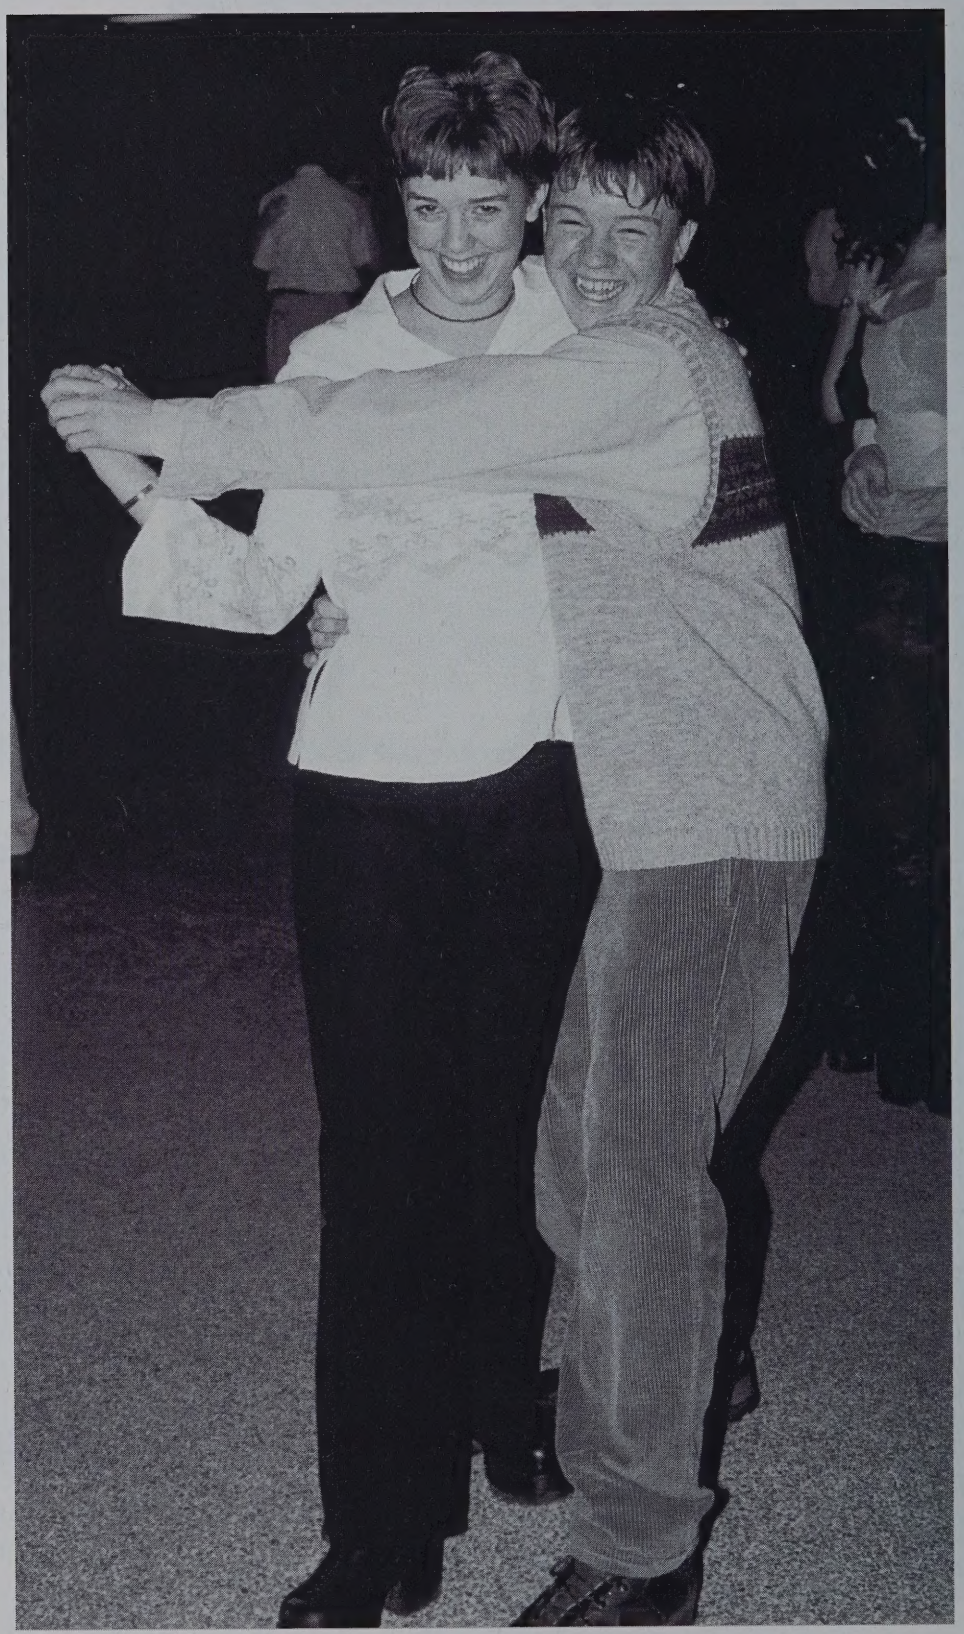
Valentine's Day Dance

Feburary 14th could be considered the most romantic day of the year, or the worst. It all depends on who you share it with and what kind of attitude you have. The Valentine's Dance, which has become a tradition for this school, was a blast. Many different people attended, whether they spent the evening with people they love or their best friends. Everyone danced and sang to many different songs played by a well-known D.J. Dwight.

The dance was held in the commons where the PTA did a great job transforming it into a wonderland of love and excitement. Everyone that attended seemed to have a good time and the money earned was more than usual. At three dollars a ticket, this PTA sponsored dance was not one to be missed. The cost was not at all extravagant, when you think of how nice a time was had, and how good the commons looked.

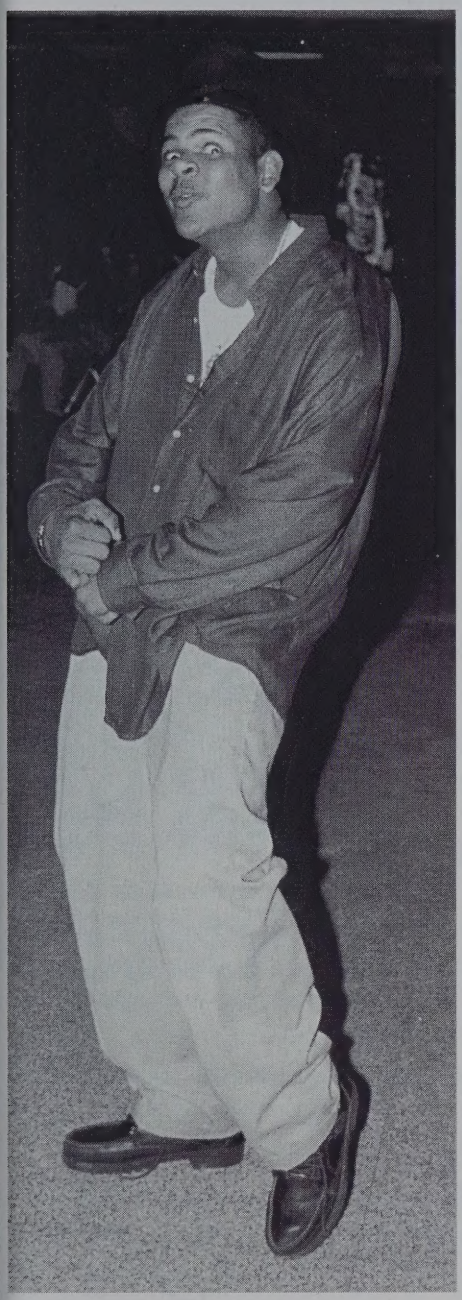
A special thanks goes to the president of the PTA, Shannon Shaw, and all the parent vounteers. Without the help of these people it would have been impossible to back up the costs of the decorations and make the night so memorable and fun. "This dance was the last informal that I was able to attend during my high school career. It was a very exciting and memorable night for me" comments Cindy Shelton.Without the help of these people it would have been impossible to back up the costs of the decorations and make the night so memorable and fun.

— Kaylon Travers

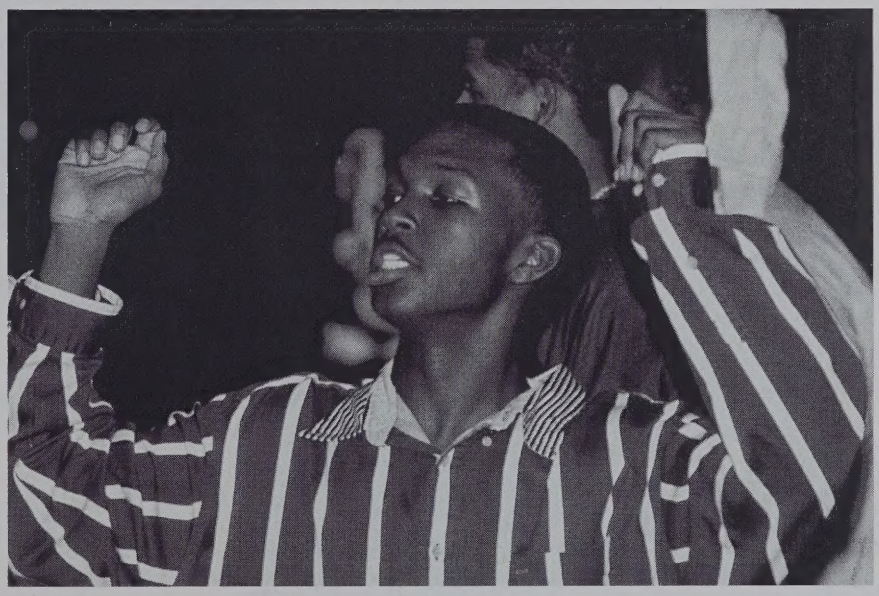


Sarah Poulson and Brian Nelson take a minute from dancing the night away to literally "cheese" for the camera.

Ye-Haw!! Sean Taylor shows his country music loving spirit. The music at the dance varied from many different types, including country.



Julie Weston and Beth Harding have a "swingin'" time at the dance. Everyone acted crazy to some of the old music being played that added interest to the night.



Richard Ross shows everyone how to get the party started.

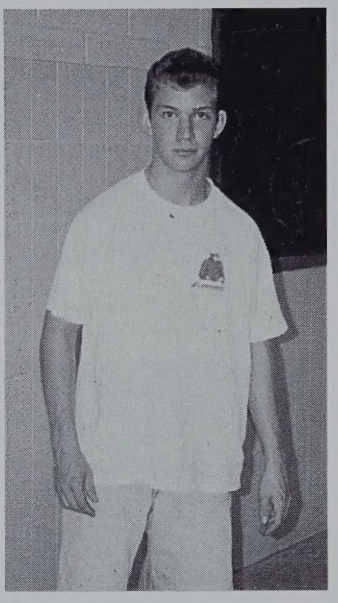
High Expectations

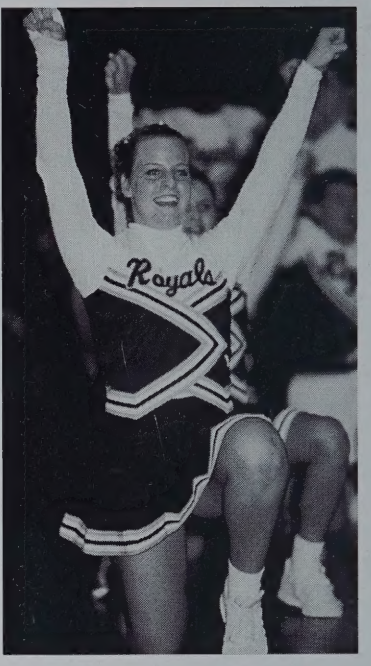
Future Goals

What will you be doing in the year 2003? Where do you expect to be by this time? Do you want to be successful and financially stable? Or is happiness what you want? These thoughts have probably crossed your mind numerous times. Each and every one of us are able to answer these questions. Most people see the future as an opportunity to further their education or enter the work force. Others just want to be happy and healthy.

Whatever your dreams in life, where ever you want to go, just do it. Anyone can accomplish anything they set their minds to.-Cindy Shelton



Mike Smith, a senior, is looking forward to graduation. In the future he said, "I want to be rock climbing in Colorado."

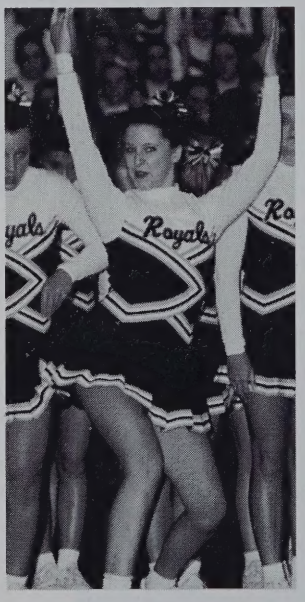


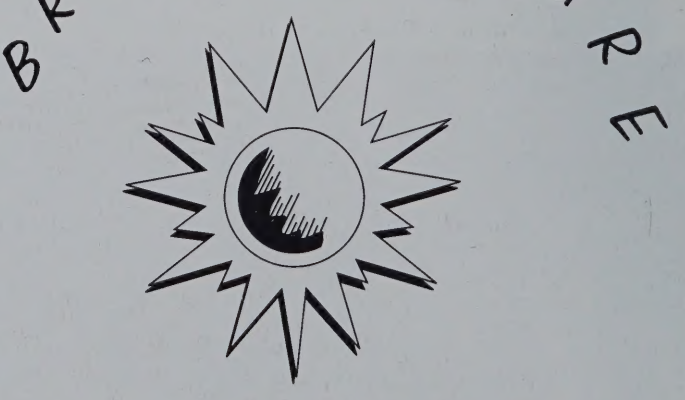
Adair Wisner's expectations in the future are as high as they were during her cheerleading career. "In five years I hope to be starting my career in criminology and beginning a family."

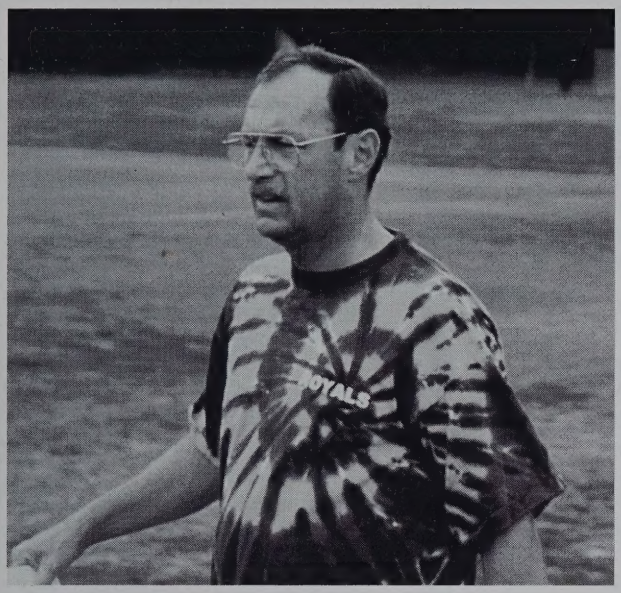
Stephanie Hughes says that in five years "I will probably still be in college trying to decide what to major in."

"I will be establishing a career in the field of theatre," stated Alice Cates.

Callie Angle, shown here at a cheerleading competition, says that her dream is to be a nurse. She hopes to be working in the medical field by the year 2003.







Mr. Harding, a math teacher and a track coach, said "Five years from now, I'll probably still be teaching and coaching."

Sarah Massey, a junior, hopes to be "in front of a camera."

"By the year 2003, I hope to have my first child," stated Mrs. Hall.

Ryan Tiller said, "I want to be on a farm milking cows."

When Leah Ford was asked what she expected to be doing she replied with, "I want to be starting my own business."

Mz Bishop is determined to have a "flourshing theatre department."

"I want to be a successful woman and for people to know my name," stated Jamella Bullock.

Mrs. Springfield, a teacher of 27 year, says she will be doing the "same ol' same ol'."

Isaac Thweat says he will be "interning for a major fashion industry as a consultant."

"I will be a photographer for National Geographic," said Rachel Aird.

Lori Ganoe, a track star in high school, says that in five years she plans to be working on her masters in broadcasting.

Jami Washington says "I want to be out on my own starting a family."

"I want to be running my own riding stable," said Mrs. Adams.

Mrs. Marchioli-Acra says that in five years "I hope to be a full time mother."

Stephanie Bland, who spent her high school career playing the sax, suprisingly wants to major in business.

Truly Missed

But Not Forgotten

Mrs. Regina Onley

from "Remember"
by William Wordsworth

Remember the wind. Remember her voice. She knows the origin of the universe.
Remember that you are all people and that all people are you.
Remember that you are this universe and that the universe is you.
Remember that all is in motion, is growing, is you.
Remember that language comes from this.
Remember the dance that language is, that life is.
Remember.

V- Victory is all she ever wanted.
I- Innocent and so kind.
C- Calm in everyway.
T- Talented in so many ways.

"Every night in my dreams
I see you I feel you
That is how I know you go on
Far across the distance
And spaces between us
You have come to show you go on Near, Far, wherever you are
I believe the heart does go on."

Colophon

The 45th volume of Peerage was published by Taylor Publishing Company in Dallas, Texas with a press run of 760 copies at 240 pages. The books were sold at $32 with a $3 additional charge for having the name on the cover. There were 16 full color pages as well as 16 pages of spot color. The spot color was silver and blue. The cover was designed by April Murphy of Houston, Texas and was Blue Korigan with Silver foil and Light Blue Silkscreen applied. The book was smythe sewn and rounded back. It used 80 pound enamel paper for all 15 signatures. A company produced Yearzine was tipped in at the plant. The fonts used in this yearbook were Finesse, Finesse Italic, Jefferson Script, and Bodoni2 Campanile.

This year's book was produced by two Dell Optiplex GM 5133 computers with 16 megabytes of RAM. The staff was able to proof layouts with a Hewlett-Packard LaserJet 5L.

Special thanks to Candid Color, especially Bob, Hal, and Marty, for sports candids, student life candids, and class pictures. All other photography was taken by the staff with 400 speed film. Our account executive in El Paso, Texas was Rosie Valdez and our local representative was Kevin Hicks.

Rae,

Well It's time to go our separate ways. I know that our friendship will remain the same, but then again I don't know everything. This year was a total change for the both of us, we both found new friends and new intrest. But we stayed together that shows how strong our friendship is. Now it's time for the both of us to go out and become independent ladies, I know that's going to be a challenge for you, but I want you to know, that when the going gets tuff, don't give up. Just remember that you're on your own now and you have to do it all yourself. But I will always be where you can find me, and you can come and tell me about your problems. While I'm at VCU and you're at Lynchburg, we will continue to learn new things and change. But hopefully one thing will not change, and that's our friendship.

LaRae remember that everything isn't going to be easy, and that you're going to have to work hard. So don't ever get down and out, always make the best of what you have.

Love always,
Vinny

LaRae,

Sup? I was glad to know you this year. Good luck in College and the year's to come. So remember my name and all the crazy stuff I did

Hey there LaRae,
Well, almost all of my "LaRae" memories are band ones. I had lots of fun, but I had to get out some days... You're a great person. I like that you're dedicated to what you do. That's an excellent quality. Have fun and remember your roots.
